REOPEN PURI JAGANNATH TEMPLE'S RATNA BHANDAR ON JULY 14: PANEL

The recommendation was made during a meeting on Tuesday, said the high-level panel's chairman Justice Biswanath Rath

VALUABLE ITEMS IN TREASURY TO BE AUDITED

"We have unanimously decided that the committee would request the government to reopen the inner chamber of the 'Ratna Bhandar' on July 14," said Justice Biswanath Rath, a retired judge of the Orissa High Court. The high-level panel was set up by the Odisha government to supervise the making of an inventory of valuable items stored in the Ratna Bhandar

LOCKS TO BE BROKEN IF KEY DOESN'T WORK

- The temple's chief administrator was asked to produce the duplicate key but he could not because the temple authority was busy with the Rath Yatra, Justice Rath said, adding that he has now been asked to submit it on July 14
- The meeting also decided to force open the treasury by breaking the locks if the duplicate key would not function for some reason, said Justice Rath

After Kathua ambush, fresh gunbattle in J&K's Doda

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A fierce gunfight broke out between militants and security forces in the mountainous Doda district on Tuesday, a day after the deadly ambush by terrorists on an Army convoy in Jammu and Kashmir's Kathua district.

A security official said an encounter broke out between militants and a joint contingent of Army and police at Ghadi Bhagwah forest area in upper reaches of Doda district.

"The security men had launched a search operation in the forest area after receiving inputs about the presence of militants there," the official said, adding: "We have got inputs that a group of 2-3 militants are hiding in a forest area."

Additional troops were rushed to the forest area to tighten the siege. According to reports, two militants were hit in retaliatory fire by the security personnel.

Meanwhile, officials said the National Investigation Agency will be assisting police in the probe on the Kathua ambush, which killed five soldiers — all of them from Uttarakhand.

A security official said a joint team of police, CRPF and Army is conducting massive searches in the forest areas of Machedi and adjoining areas in Kathua district to trace and neutralise the terrorists responsible for Monday's ambush.

Officials said the elite para commandos, who were air dropped in the area on Monday evening, are assisting the troops in the search operation. The Army is using drones to track down the movement of militants responsible for the attack.

"No fresh contact has been established with the hiding militants. The search operation is going on," said a security official. He added that the search operation has been extended to Basantgarh forest area of neighbouring Udhampur district.

Sources said during initial investigation it was found that three or four militants were involved in the attack on the Army convoy in Kathua.

PM: Bombs, bullets stymie peace push

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

VISITING Prime Minister Narendra Modi emphasised in his talks with Russian President Vladimir Putin in Moscow that a solution to the Ukraine war cannot be found in the battlefield, adding efforts for peace do not succeed in the midst of bombs and bullets.

The talks came amid reports of a Russian cruise missile bombing a children's hospital in Ukraine's capital Kyiv. Modi said in his televised opening remarks at the summit talks on Tuesday, "Let's take war, any conflict or terrorist acts: any person who believes in humanity feels pain when people die, and especially when innocent children die. When we feel such pain, the heart simply explodes, and I had the opportunity to talk about these issues with you yesterday," Modi told Putin. He said both discussed Ukraine and other matters extensively for over 4-5 hours.

For his part, Putin said, "I appreciate the attention India has paid to pressing issues, which includes efforts to finding ways to resolve the Ukraine crisis primarily through peaceful means."

Later, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said, "Modi is not claiming to be a mediator" on Ukraine. The Indian PM, he informed, suggested proposals to end the war. But he doubted if the NATO grouping would consider Modi's peace initiatives.

In his opening remarks, Putin reaffirmed that Russia and India have a special and privileged partnership and that trade between the two countries grew by 66% last year and by 20% in the first quarter of 2024.

Putin also conferred on Modi the 'Order of St Andrew the Apostle' for his outstanding services in developing the strategic partnership between Russia and India. The award was announced in 2019.

In their bilateral talks, Putin agreed to Modi's strong demand for the early release and return of the Indian nationals working in the Russian military as support staff. Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra said the Russian side promised early discharge of all Indian nationals from the service of the Russian Army.

Modi also expressed concern over delay in the shipping defence spare parts. Meanwhile, India will be opening two new consulates in Russia — at Kazan and Yekaterinburg.

TASKS AHEAD

- Aspiration for elimination of non-tariff trade barriers on bilateral trade. Continuation of talks to liberalise bilateral trade, including possibility to establish EAEU-India Free Trade Area. Raising mutual trade volume to over $100 bn by 2030
- Development of a bilateral settlement system using national currencies
- Increase of cargo turnover with India through the launch of new routes of the North-South International Transport Corridor, the Northern Sea Route and the Chennai-Vladivostok Sea Line
- Increase of bilateral trade in agri products, food and fertilisers
- Cooperation in energy sectors like nuclear energy, oil refining, petrochem. Facilitation of energy security amid global energy transition
- Strengthening interaction in infra development, transport engineering, automobile production and shipbuilding, space and other industrial sectors
- Promotion of investments and joint projects across various sectors of digital economy, science and research, educational exchanges and internships for employees of high-tech companies
- Studying possibility of opening branches of Indian medical institutions in Russia

NDA vs I.N.D.I.A in first bypolls to 13 seats after general elections

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH the bypolls for 13 assembly constituencies to be held on Wednesday, the stage is set for another face-off between the NDA and the Opposition INDIA bloc in seven states.

The states that go to the polls are Bihar, West Bengal, Tamil Nadu, Madhya Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Punjab and Himachal Pradesh. Coming on the heels of the 2024 Lok Sabha results, the contest is significant for both sides. The results, which will be declared on July 13, will also be a curtain raiser for important state elections later this year.

The election to the four seats in West Bengal will be keenly watched as three seats fell vacant after BJP MLAs jumped ship to the Trinamool Congress (TMC). While the BJP is trying to leverage its Lok Sabha election leads in three of these segments, the TMC is harping on its recent electoral success. The fourth seat became vacant after the death of the sitting TMC MLA.

POLL TIME

State	Seats
West Bengal	4
Himachal Pradesh	3
Uttarakhand	2
Bihar	1
Tamil Nadu	1
Madhya Pradesh	1
Punjab	1

Stakes are high in Himachal Pradesh as election will be held in three seats — Dehra, Hamirpur and Nalagarh. It was necessitated after three independent MLAs joined the BJP. The BJP is going all out to win them though the Congress is in the majority with 38 MLAs while the BJP has 27. In Dehra, the Congress has fielded Kamlesh Thakur, wife of Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu, against BJP's Hoshiyar Singh, who switched sides.

The Vikravandi Assembly constituency in Tamil Nadu is also witnessing a fierce contest between the ruling DMK, NDA ally PMK, and NTK.

The two seats in Uttarakhand — Manglaur and Badrinath — hold significance to both the Congress and the BJP. The Badrinath seat fell vacant after the Congress MLA joined the BJP. The Congress has fielded Qazi Nizamuddin from Manglaur, a traditional Congress constituency.

While Bihar's Rupauli is witnessing a contest between the RJD and the JD(U), in Madhya Pradesh, the BJP is taking on the Congress in the tribal-dominated constituency of Amarwara.

Form task forces to fight dengue: CM instructs DCs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday directed deputy commissioners to constitute task forces in their respective districts to combat dengue.

They should be on high alert for the next two months, the chief minister told DCs at a meeting here.

Siddaramaiah said DCs and health officials should ensure special wards to treat dengue patients in district hospitals. Similar arrangements should be made at medical colleges in the districts. Dengue tests should be increased and those infected with the disease should be monitored constantly. Teams should be formed to monitor the situation. Members of the teams should meet daily till monsoon ends, he told the officials.

The CM said there is no dearth of funds in the health department. In all, 7,362 dengue cases and seven deaths have been reported in the state so far. Currently, 303 people are being treated for dengue. However, experts have opined that there is no need to declare it as a medical emergency.

Siddaramaiah said approval has been given to start 215 "namma" clinics and buildings have been identified at 42 places. There are 503 such clinics in the state. Officials should inform people about the importance of these clinics.

'Garbage dumping rampant'

On the increasing number of dengue cases, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said dumping of garbage and construction debris is rampant in cities and towns. These spots have become mosquito-breeding centres as rainwater gets stagnated there.

"We will keep a watch on it. We have instructed officials to take strict action against the offenders. In Bengaluru, BBMP is working closely with the health department in combating dengue," he said.

Siddu pulls up babus for rising road accidents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING deep concern over the increasing number of deaths due to road accidents, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday said nearly 10,000 people died in the state in the last one year.

Participating in a progress review meeting here, Siddaramaiah said identification of blackspots alone won't help, the officials should take measures to prevent accidents there.

In the last one year, the state witnessed 34,916 road accidents in which 9,943 people died, he said and sought to know if the officials' responsibility ended with the identification of blackspots where accidents occur frequently. Action will be taken against errant officials, he said.

'Ensure adequate ambulances'

Road safety committees should formulate plans to prevent accidents in their districts. Officials from Revenue and Police departments, and urban local bodies should work in tandem. Only then, road accidents could be prevented to an extent, Siddaramaiah said.

Stating that Road Safety Week should not be observed for the sake of it, the chief minister told the officials to ensure adequate ambulances and trauma centres to save accident victims.

UP govt suspends six officials after SIT report on Hathras stampede flags lapses

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Uttar Pradesh government on Tuesday suspended six officials, including a local subdivisional magistrate (SDM), in connection with the July 2 stampede in Hathras during a satsang (prayer meeting), which claimed 121 lives. The action came soon after the special investigation team (SIT) submitted its report to UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, holding the event's organisers and the local administration responsible for the mishap.

The suspended officials are Sikdanararau SDM, circle officer, SHO Sikandrarau, tehsildar, and police outpost in charge of Kachora and Pora.

The SIT report recommended action against these officers saying they did not take the event seriously and also failed to inform higher officials.

It said the SDM granted permission without inspecting the venue or seeking the advice of higher authorities.

As for the event's organisers, the SIT report faulted them for understating the number of devotees who would be attending the event and also flouting conditions on which the approval was granted. It found that some members of the organising committee acted recklessly and misbehaved with local police. It also noted that the preacher, Bhole Baba, was allowed to meet the crowd without any security arrangement, which added to the chaos.

'Conspiracy angle can't be ruled out'

The SIT report said 'a big conspiracy' leading to the tragedy can't be ruled out, adding only a thorough probe can bring out the truth. Earlier, Bhole Baba's lawyer had claimed some people sprayed 'poisonous substance' into the crowd

NEW ROLE

Gambhir appointed India team head coach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

GAUTAM Gambhir has been appointed as the new head coach of the senior men's cricket team. The opener, who played the role of mentor during Kolkata Knight Riders' march to the Indian Premier League (IPL) title this year, will link up with the side for the first time during the white-ball series against Sri Lanka, which begins in three weeks.

Jay Shah, secretary of the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), announced the appointment on X (formerly Twitter). "It is with immense pleasure that I welcome Mr @GautamGambhir as the new Head Coach of the Indian Cricket Team," Shah, whose post interestingly preceeded the press release, posted. "Modern-day cricket has evolved rapidly, and Gautam has witnessed this changing landscape up close. Having endured the grind and excelled in various roles throughout his career, I am confident that Gautam is the ideal person to steer Indian Cricket forward..." Having represented India with distinction in all three formats, the southpaw will be expected to build on the successes of the last regime, signposted off with global gold in the shortest format. Apart from leading the transition in red-ball cricket (as many as five automatic starters are 35 or over), he will be under pressure to deliver two ICC titles as early as next year (Champions Trophy followed by the WTC final, if India qualifies). The BCCI release said: "... his focus will be on developing a culture of excellence, discipline, and teamwork, while also nurturing young talent and preparing the team for future challenges on the global stage."

The 42-year-old will also be given carte blanche with respect to key support staff as the release thanked Paras Mhambrey (bowling coach), T Dilip (fielding coach) and Vikram Rathour (batting coach) for a 'highly successful tenure'.

WORLD BANK OFFICIALS VISIT 2 LAKES, BBMP HOPES FOR FUNDS

Rs 200 crore may be extended to rejuvenate 40 waterbodies

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

A team of officials from the World Bank recently visited Kalkere and Rampura Lakes in Mahadevapura along with BBMP Lake Department officials and expressed interest in lake improvement projects. Palike officials now expect a funding of around Rs 200 crore to develop 40 undeveloped water bodies across the city.

The World Bank was visiting the ongoing K-100 waterway project, which is the development of a 12-km Rajakaluve from Shantala Silk Junction at Majestic to Bellandur, connecting Koramangala-Challaghatta Valley to the waterfront for public recreation.

BBMP lake division officials said World Bank officials, including Senior Water and Sanitation Specialist Mariappa Kullappa, visited the two lakes and also expressed interest in funding the development of other water bodies in the city.

"The BBMP is already working on the K-100 waterway project and World Bank officials were happy with the lake rejuvenation work at Kalkere Lake. They were already interested in funding Rajakaluve development and now we expect the BBMP's lake division too to get at least Rs 200 crore," a source said.

The BBMP's Stormwater Drain Department had sought funds, and the World Bank has reportedly agreed to extend Rs 3,000 crore as loan, which would be split between BBMP and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) for flood mitigation. Rs 200 crore will be diverted to the lake division and 40 undeveloped lakes would be rejuvenated, the BBMP officials said, adding that the network of lakes and stormwater drain can help mitigate flood effects.

Chief Engineer, Lake Division, Vijaykumar Haridas, said that if water bodies are improved, water scarcity during summer can be addressed. "For example, the Madiwala Lake, which spreads over 250 acres, was last rejuvenated about 25 years ago and there is a lot of silt. To desilt the lake, it may cost about Rs 30-40 crore. If this is done, flooding in surrounding areas like Bommanahalli can be controlled and the groundwater table will also increase."

Schools to hold 'We the Humans' prog for harmony

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ALL government-aided, non-aided primary and high schools will conduct the 'Naavu Manujaru' (We the Humans) programme to foster social harmony, scientific temper and coexistence among students through discussions, reviews and dialogues.

Announcing this, the Department of School Education and Literacy (DSEL) stated that all schools must dedicate two hours per week, or three periods of 40 minutes each, to conduct these sessions.

The programme was proposed by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in the state budget for 2024-25. The objective is to encourage co-relation between text and co-curricular activities and activity-based learning and to change children's attitudes. The department has directed district-level nodal officers to oversee and submit monthly reports to the Department of State Educational Research and Training (DSERT) and make sure that schools continue the programme.

The department said no special fund will be provided to implement it.

According to the circular, "One period for value education and two periods for socially useful productive work (SUPW) have been adjusted into the timetables of the current academic year." DSEL has also issued a format for implementation of the programme.

Nagasimha Rao, Executive Director, Child Rights Trust, said it's a welcome initiative and will help students develop a scientific temper. "The government should ensure that local NGOs are onboarded for the programme so that teachers are not overburdened and they can facilitate the schools to provide accurate knowledge on certain issues. This will help develop a holistic education for students," he added.

HC seeks govt's response on vacant posts in consumer panels

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ACTING on a public interest litigation, the High Court of Karnataka on Tuesday sought the state government's response on not filling vacant posts in district and state consumer commissions, which resulted in pendency of a large number of cases.

A division bench of Chief Justice NV Anjaria and Justice KV Aravind issued notices to the chief secretary and the secretary of the Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs Department after hearing a petition filed by VR Raghunathan, advocate from Mysuru.

The petitioner urged the court to direct the state government to fill vacant posts of president and member of all consumer commissions without any delay. The government should also be directed to take steps to fill posts that become vacant in 2024, he stated.

The petitioner said the advocates were not able to get relief to litigants within the stipulated three-month time under the Consumer Protection Act due to vacant posts in the commissions, which have not been filled due to negligence on the part of the officials concerned. New litigations, appeals, and execution petitions are increasing. From January 1, 2024, to June 15, appeals were filed in more than 1,800 cases, besides other litigations. Cases are not being disposed of speedily because of vacancies in the commissions, he alleged.

He said Justice HG Ramesh, president of the State Consumer Commission, demitted office on May 18 on completion of his tenure. Twelve posts of president of district consumer commissions are vacant. Many posts of member of the commissions are also vacant. In 2024, 12 posts of president and several posts of member will become vacant. Hence, steps should be taken to fill the vacant posts at the earliest.

FIR against manager of Kohli co-owned restaurant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CITY police have registered FIRs against the managers of three restaurants, including One8 Commune co-owned by Indian cricketer Virat Kohli, for reportedly keeping their establishments open beyond permissible hours.

The FIRs have been registered against them in Cubbon Park police station. Action against them was taken during a special drive launched by police on Saturday night.

The other two establishments that violated the rules are Empire Restaurant on Church Street and Panzio Bar and Restaurant on Brigade Road, according to police.

One8 Commune was opened in December last on the sixth floor of Ratnam's Complex on Kasturba Road in the vicinity of Chinnaswamy Cricket Stadium.

"We have booked cases against the managers of the three restaurants for running business till 1:30 am. We initiated action after receiving several complaints of loud music being played there. Pubs and restaurants are allowed to remain open in the city only till 1 am," BK Shekar, DCP (Central), told reporters.

HOTELIERS SEEK SERVICE HOURS TILL 2 AM

Bengaluru: The hotel association has written to Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar seeking extension of the closing time for pubs, bars and restaurants by an hour in BBMP limits. The current timings for all eateries is capped at 1 am. "Around 8-10 months ago, we requested 24/7 timings for all hotels, especially for the ones near hospitals and airports. We are now demanding an increase in the current timings to 2 am to serve customers who often travel late into the night," said PC Rao, president, Bruhat Bangalore Hotel Association (BBHA). The association has also written to Union Finance Minister Nirmala Seetharaman regarding their suggestions and expectations for the upcoming Union budget scheduled to be presented on July 23. To promote ease of doing business for the hotel industry, the association has requested that all licences should be brought under single-window clearances. The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) licences should be made perpetual (one time for life) and the public performance Licence should be abolished as it is currently not required.

CISCE schools told to follow language policy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH Kannada implemented as the first and second language in all schools in Karnataka, the chairman of the Council for the Indian School Certificate Examinations (CISCE) has asked CISCE-affiliated schools to follow the state language policy.

Speaking at a principals' meet in the city on Tuesday, CISCE Chairman G Immanuel said, "It is definitely a concerning factor for families that have migrated from different regions and have to adapt the language and especially for students in higher classes. Having said that, this is a state decision and it is respected. However, the board will try and present its concerns to the government."

He also announced that the board is keen on setting up a centre in the city for CISCE. The event focused on the implementation of National Education Policy-2020 (NEP) and enhancing educational practices, adopting newer pedagogies and upgrading school infrastructure as per requirements.

Immanuel emphasised the need to curtail dropout rates in schools by engaging with students regularly. "There are several studies on how students can be engaged with different activities according to their grades. The overall school environment needs to be kept healthy and welcoming. Organising activities that involve engagement emotionally, cognitive and behavioral can go a long way," he said.

Admitting that technology adoption is the need of the hour, principals were, however, suggested to limit the use of new-age tools and only take their assistance to improve teaching.

For students, more activities should be done in schools so that they can be monitored instead of homework. As per the chairman, the board has also suggested that the government impose some regulations for the use of tools for academic work.

The Associated Managements of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka (KAMS) submitted a letter to Immanuel highlighting the growing number of unauthorised schools teaching CISCE cropping up in the state. "We discussed the issue and the board reiterated that their affiliations are rigid and will look into the matter," Shashi Kumar D, Secretary, KAMS said.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

10th July: Do you think the cosmos is a mysterious place? Well, here's some support for you: according to current scientific estimates only 4 percent of the known universe is governed by the laws of physics. That leaves a whopping 96 percent for which we have no explanation whatsoever. And this figure is not far short of 100 percent!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should pay more attention to financial matters, but realise that personal possessions are not everything. If you are hatching a money-making scheme or plotting a sensible purchase, you have about twenty-four hours. That's unless you want to put things off until next week.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Take control and get back in the driving-seat. Lunar alignments should give you the idea that with just a little effort, you will come a step closer to achieving a cherished dream. And if that doesn't work, perhaps someone you have always respected will give you the necessary nudge.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
If you are alternating between great enthusiasm and a feeling that life is all against you, you're doing something wrong. You may use the power of your mind to temper excitement with caution and qualify pessimism with hope. It's all a matter of finding the right balance.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should be able to begin to relax and enjoy better social contacts. There is still a fair amount of tension, and it would be unrealistic to expect this to dissipate, but it shouldn't reduce the potential for pleasure. In fact, you will soon discover still more ways to enjoy yourself!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Over the next twenty-four hours you will find it difficult to compromise. However, if only for your own sake, there will be situations when it will be by far the most sensible thing to find a middle path. Just because somebody else is stuck in their ways, that is no reason for you not to change.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Take advantage of Venus' charming relationship with Jupiter to raise the romantic temperature. The only snag could be the tendency for your expectations to spiral out of control, which could mean they'll be impossible to satisfy. One good way to start is by meeting others' needs rather than your own.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The romantic situation is dominated by secrecy. There is nothing wrong with keeping your feelings to yourself, for it may be that other people are just not ready to hear what you have to say. Be patient, and give them all the time they need to catch up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You have done everything expected of you, and more. The pleasant news is that your horoscope is rapidly becoming very much more relaxed, and the only likely hitch could involve money, especially if other people are involved. Make sure you know who is paying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your emotional ambitions are being stirred. This means that your level of desire is going up, but the pressing question is whether your actual circumstances will allow your hopes to be satisfied. Perhaps you will be able to reach some of your goals, but leave others until later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The Moon's major impact today is enthusiastic and ambitious, which indicates that the world is generally a compatible place, and you should feel that you're on the right track. Relationships with children and younger relatives should improve, but do please take the initiative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your plans will go well if you deal with fundamentals first. This means taking nothing and nobody for granted, and recognising that if a job is worth doing, it's worth doing yourself! The only question is whether you have enough time, so don't over-commit yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Take your time and spend just as long as you need to make the right choices. It's important not to be hurried, especially where work is concerned. Make a point of developing overseas links, and getting in touch with people you've not seen for far too long.

Now on, early release of convicts thrice a year: Home Minister

Lauds B'luru prison staff for making their facility cleanest in India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS per directions of the Supreme Court, from now on, early release of select convicts from prisons across the state will be granted thrice a year, instead of the earlier two, said Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara.

He was speaking at a programme for the premature release of 77 prisoners from seven central prisons across the state, held at Bengaluru Central Prison in Parappana Agrahara on Tuesday.

"We were releasing convicts with good conduct on a premature basis only on two occasions every year. However, following the SC guidelines, we will release convicts with good conduct thrice a year," Dr Parameshwara said adding that since 2015, Karnataka has released 2,144 convicts from various prisons. Calling upon prisoners to reform and maintain good conduct so that they too can be released early, the minister lauded the prison staff and said it's because of their efforts that Bengaluru Central Prison has been declared the cleanest prison in India.

DGP (Prisons and Correctional Services) Malini Krishnamurthy shared information about various development works going on in various prisons in the state. "We will deploy 100 drone cameras to improve vigil and staff are being trained on this. We are planning to deploy AI tech in baggage and full-body scanners. A new building, which can accommodate 1,128 prisoners, is coming up at Parappana Agrahara prison," the officer said.

Responding to demands placed by the DGP, Parameshwara said they will take all measures, including filling vacant posts in prisons.

Speaking on the occasion, Damesh, who was released after being behind bars for 15 years, said it is a rebirth for him and he will lead the rest of his life as a good citizen and a family man.

During the event, the President's Correctional Service Medal for 2022 was awarded to four prison personnel and the Chief Minister's Medal for 2023 to 14 personnel.

PRISON officials said Gupta created a record by getting postgraduate degrees in criminal justice of law, international business operation, business law and human rights law, and diploma degrees in cyber law, and food and nutrition from Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) in Mysuru and Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU).

Gupta told TNIE that he spent 14 years in prison. He cultivated a habit of reading books to keep away from anti-social elements in the prison. "I also completed 24 certificate courses and did the food and nutrition course to keep myself healthy. Officers and teachers in the prison helped me with my studies and allowed me to spend more time in the library," he said.

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara lauded Gupta and expressed the hope that other prisoners would emulate him.

Darshan moves HC to get home food in prison

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

STATING that he has lost a lot of weight because of food poisoning and diarrhoea as he is unable to digest the food being served in the central prison at Parappana Agrahara in the city, actor Darshan Thoogudeep Srinivas, who is in judicial custody in connection with the murder of Renukaswamy, moved the Karnataka High Court, seeking directions to prison authorities to allow him to get home food, cloth, cutlery, bed, books and newspapers.

In the petition filed with the registry on Tuesday through his advocate, Darshan stated that the doctors in the prison diagnosed him with food poisoning, he has lost weight and is unable to eat the prison food. He had orally requested the authorities to allow him to get home-cooked food, but they refused which is not only illegal but also inhuman, he alleged.

Claiming that his health would deteriorate if things continued as it is in the prison, Darshan contended that Section 30 of the Karnataka Prisons Act, 1963, enables undertrial prisoners to maintain themselves or to purchase or receive from private sources proper food, clothing, bedding or other necessities, subject to examination and approval by the inspector general of prisons. Claiming that he came to be made an accused in the case solely based on the statement of the co-accused, Darshan stated that allowing him to obtain home food, books, newspapers and bedding would certainly reduce the burden on the state exchequer. If not permitted, he would be put to irreparable loss, damage and injury and his health may deteriorate in future, he pleaded. The petition is likely to come up for hearing on Wednesday.

Can't invoke KCOCA on two Bitcon accused: HC

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court quashed the permission granted by CID to SIT to invoke Section 3 of the Karnataka Control of Organised Crimes Act, 2000, (KCOCA) against hacker Shreekrishna Ramesh aka Sreeki and Robin Khandelwal in connection with the Bitcoin scam.

The court noted that the KCOCA provision was invoked without the authority of law since as of July 17, 2017, the date of commission of the offence, no chargesheet was filed in two cases and cognisance had not been taken within 10 years of the date of commission of the offence. Justice S R Krishna Kumar passed the order while allowing the petition filed by Sreeki and Naresh Kumar Khandelwal on behalf of his son Robin, challenging the permission dated May 20, 2024, granted by the Deputy Inspector General of Police, Economic Offences Wing, CID.

DKS SUBMITS PROPOSAL TO RENAME RAMANAGARA

Deputy CM wants district to be named Bengaluru South; says move will attract industry, boost development

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and Ramanagara district Congress leaders hand over a proposal to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, requesting renaming the district as Bengaluru South, in Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, along with other Congress leaders, on Tuesday submitted a memorandum to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, proposing to rename Ramanagara district as Bengaluru South district.

Speaking to reporters, Shivakumar said that a delegation of Ramanagara district MLAs and himself submitted the proposal to the CM on Tuesday. He said this initiative was taken, considering the development and future prospects of Ramanagara, Channapatna, Magadi, Kanakapura, and Harohalli taluks.

Shivakumar said the people of Doddaballapur, Devanahalli, Hoskote, Kanakapura, Ramanagara, Channapatna, and Magadi were all Bengalureans originally. "Ramanagara and Bengaluru Rural districts were carved out of Bengaluru Urban for administrative convenience," he said, adding that Ramanagara needs to be renamed keeping Ramanagara (taluk) as the district headquarters. "We have submitted a proposal regarding this," he added.

Explaining, the DCM said the renaming exercise would encourage industries to look at the district and the land valuation would go up as well. "Bengaluru has scope to grow only towards Ramanagara and Tumakuru, as it has Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh on its other sides," he said. When asked which taluks would come under the Bengaluru South district, he said it was only a renaming exercise and there won't be any change in the geographical boundaries of the district.

The memorandum was signed by Shivakumar, along with district in-charge minister Ramalinga Reddy, former Bangalore Rural LS Constituency MP DK Suresh, and others.

Responding to the request of renaming Ramanagara, Siddaramaiah told reporters that they have only received the proposal at the moment. "The proposal will be kept before the cabinet and discussed," he added.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar's idea of renaming Ramanagara to Bengaluru South was widely opposed by the BJP and JDS. It can be noted that when Union minister HD Kumaraswamy was the CM, the Ramanagara district was carved out of Bengaluru Rural in 2007. Both Shivakumar and Kumaraswamy, Vokkaliga leaders from this region, are eying to have a hold over this place. In the recent Lok Sabha polls, Shivakumar's brother Suresh lost the Bangalore Rural LS constituency to Kumaraswamy's brother-in-law Dr CN Manjunath, and Ramanagara was part of that constituency.

BJP, JDS leaders oppose proposal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

OPPOSING the proposal to rename Ramanagara district as Bengaluru South district, BJP and JDS leaders slammed the Congress government, accusing it of indulging in appeasement politics.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly and BJP leader R Ashoka said, "It appears as if they (Congress) hate the name "Rama" in Ramanagara, which has prompted them to take up this proposal." He said they are also looking at the move in terms of real estate value. "They have already cheated people of Bengaluru in the name of 'Brand Bengaluru', and now with the renaming of Ramanagara, they are fooling people of that district too," he said.

Ashoka further said it was in 2007, during the BJP-JDS coalition government, when Ramanagara district was formed. "The Congress is trying to take revenge against both the parties for Congress' loss in the recent Lok Sabha polls," he said.

He questioned Chief Minister Siddaramaiah if the renaming of Ramanagara district was Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's idea. He also asked if after grabbing lands through MUDA, they were making an attempt to grab lands of Ramanagara district.

Former deputy CM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, who was district-in-charge minister in the BJP government, said that the Congress has neglected Ramanagara. "They have used the district only for political representation and done nothing. They want to change the name of the district simply for appeasement politics," he said.

JDS Youth president Nikhil Kumaraswamy too alleged appeasement politics. "This place is significant in its own way. Why are they changing its name? There is some hidden agenda to woo certain sections of the people," he claimed.

CM directs officers to prepare an action plan to boost tourism

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday expressed displeasure over not having adequate facilities to promote tourism in the state, especially in the coastal region, despite the state having a 320-km coastline.

Speaking at a review meeting attended by ministers and senior officers, the CM said they have decided to formulate a new tourism policy and extensive consultations should be held on this. He said a district-wise action plan for the conservation of tourist spots should be prepared within three months. "Tourism infrastructure in the state is less and investors will come forward only if an environment conducive for tourism is created," he said. There is much scope for developing tourism in the state and that can create employment opportunities, he said.

Siddaramaiah directed the deputy commissioners of Udupi, Dakshina Kannada, and Uttara Kannada to take measures to develop tourist spots in the districts, in collaboration with the locals. He said that due to the CRZ Act, there are some problems in development and they would try to resolve them, he said.

He said tourism is a major source of income for many states, but Karnataka has not been able to develop tourism, as much as neighboring Kerala. A blueprint should be prepared for the comprehensive development of the sector, he said

There are many important places along the coast, including medical colleges, ports, and temples. But there is not a single five-star hotel, he said, adding that a separate plan has to be prepared for coastal and hilly areas. There is a need to explore the possibilities of coastal tourism. It is possible to collect taxes and create employment opportunities for locals, he said.

He said that the situation of coastal people going to Mumbai and the Middle East in search of jobs in large numbers has to change, he said. District officials should identify possibilities for developing tourist spots. Steps should be taken not only by private partnerships, but also by the government. All aspects will be included in the new tourism policy, he said. There are 25,000 monuments in the state, of which 23,000 are neglected. If the Karnataka Tourism Trade (Facilitation and Regulation) Act, 2015, is properly implemented, the development of tourism destinations is possible, he said.

Tourism Minister HK Patil told officials to prepare an action plan and submit a proposal to the government to utilise opportunities in their districts. He asked them to take the help of writers and artists in the districts to prepare the plan in three months.

'Most-senior Dalit MP from South, but no ministry'

VIJAYAPURA: Upset over denial of a cabinet berth to him, veteran BJP leader and Vijayapura MP Ramesh Jigajinagi on Tuesday said his party has not recognised him, despite him being the most-senior Dalit MP from South India. "Many people had warned me in the past that BJP is an anti-Dalit party and not to join it. In spite of it, I joined without a second thought," he recalled. After opening his party office here, he told reporters that the BJP did not respect him, though he is a seven-time MP from the state. "This time in the NDA government, only MPs from upper castes have been made ministers. I don't want ministry for myself, but for my constituency," he added.

Panel set up to look into board appointments

BENGALURU: CM Siddaramaiah has constituted a committee headed by Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara to prepare a list of directors and members for appointment to boards and corporations. The 11-member committee, consisting of ministers KJ George, Ramalinga Reddy, Satish Jarkiholi, Santosh Lad, and Sharan Prakash Patil, has been asked to prepare the list within a month. The government has earlier appointed chairpersons and vice chairpersons for the boards and corporations.

I KNOW HOW TO APPRECIATE AND PULL UP OFFICERS: SIDDU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah, who held marathon meetings with DCs, CEOs, secretaries and district-in-charge secretaries on Monday and Tuesday, told them he knows how to appreciate them for good work, but, at the same time, also pull them up for their lethargy.

Siddaramaiah told reporters that he held meetings for 10 hours on both days, where 68 issues from 30 departments were discussed. The government wants to convene such meetings once every three months. "The last such meeting was in September 2023. But it could not be held later because of the model code of conduct for the Lok Sabha elections and other poll-related work," he said.

DCs, CEOs and SPs play an important role in governing a district. They reach government projects to the people. They should work in coordination with other officials, only then projects designed for the poor, women and Dalits will reach beneficiaries. "We appreciate those who do good work. At the same time, we act against those who do not perform. If needed, disciplinary action too will be taken," he warned.

The CM said most of the issues related to revenue, rural development and panchayat raj, and women and child development department will be resolved.

He said that if people die or fall sick because of contaminated water, action will be taken against officials concerned. If needed, criminal cases too will be filed against them, he warned.

Jana Spandana, public grievance meetings, should be held at every district. "Officials were told to hold the meetings at the district level after the monsoon session of the legislature. District in-charge ministers too should attend them along with DCs," he said. Till now, 40,702 applications received at these grievance meetings have been disposed of, while 8,000 are pending, he added.

ST CORPORATION SCAM

Former sports minister Nagendra grilled for hrs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Minister of Youth Empowerment, Sports, and Tribal Welfare and Congress leader B Nagendra was interrogated by sleuths of the Special Investigation Team (SIT), probing the multi-crore Maharishi Valmiki Scheduled Tribe Development Corporation scam, for more than eight hours, on Tuesday. The SIT officials also quizzed Congress MLA of Raichur Rural assembly constituency Basanagouda Daddal for over four hours.

Asked to appear again

Both were issued notices on July by the SIT to appear for questioning on Tuesday and they turned up at the SIT office around noon.

A team of officials interrogated them separately. After the marathon inquiry, the SIT officials sent them back, but asked them to to appear for questioning again on Wednesday.

The inquiry is in connection with the alleged illegal transfer of Rs 94.7 crore from the corporation's bank account to various other bank accounts opened in the name of several fake companies. A case was registered at the High Grounds police station.

Nagendra resigned as minister on June 5 after Chandrashekhar, an accounts superintendent of the corporation, died by suicide alleging irregularities in the corporation. So far, the SIT has arrested 11 people and recovered Rs 14 crore.

WHAT CM WANTS DONE

EDUCATION

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who held a series of meetings with officials on Tuesday, said the government will soon construct 2,000 model schools from corporate social responsibility funds. To take the decision forward, a committee has been formed that includes senior ministers and officials. Private companies in Karnataka make a profit of Rs 4 lakh crore and as per law, they have spent only Rs 1,190 crore, which is 30 per cent of the total amount. The government, to begin with, will take up the construction of 20 schools in Ramanagara, which is being funded by Toyota Group. "We will provide them 3-acre land, and the company will build the schools," he said.

FOREST

He said that last year, 65 people died in elephant attacks. Deputy commissioners should take measures to prevent man-animal conflicts. In all, 330 km of railway barricades have been put up across the boundaries of forests to prevent elephants from straying. Another 300 km railway barricade have to be put up, he added.

WOMEN AND CHILD WELFARE DEPT

- Siddaramaiah said in 2022-23, 13,477 minor girls became mothers in the state. Officials should prevent such incidences by coming down heavily against child marriages. Child marriage monitoring committees at panchayat, district and taluk levels should be strengthened.
- The state has a vacancy of 4,180 Anganwadi workers and 9,411 assistants, which have to be filled by December-end this year. There is also a proposal to increase the honorarium paid to assistants in urban areas, he added.

MINORITY WELFARE DEPARTMENT

Officials should remove encroachments of properties belonging to Wakf Board. In all, 217 wakf properties have been encroached, he added.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY

The state government is taking up a cattle census this year which has to be done scientifically. Every day, 2.4 crore litres of milk is produced in the state, including one crore litres sent to the Karnataka Milk Federation. To increase production, cattle should be vaccinated. This year, 10,800 cattle died, for which the government paid a compensation of Rs 5.83 crore.

Activist writes to CS, names Siddu, his wife

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

SOCIAL activist Snehamayi Krishna has written to the chief secretary and the secretary to the Revenue Department, demanding a thorough investigation into alleged irregularities in the Mysore Urban Development Authority (MUDA).

He has called for the revocation of all illegally allotted sites worth crores of rupees and sought action against those involved, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, his wife Parvati and other officials.

The MUDA controversy is increasingly becoming a thorn for Siddaramaiah in his home turf, with allegations that he, his wife and relatives along with MUDA officials have created fake documents to fraudulently acquire high-value sites under 50:50 site distribution scheme.

The complaint also names the deputy commissioner, tahsildar, deputy registrar, and MUDA officials.

Krishna, who said that he will also file a complaint at the Vijayanagar police station, has sent letters to the governor, chief secretary, and the principal secretary of the Revenue Department.

Panchamsali MLAs must resign en masse to push for reservation: Kage

ENS @ Belagavi

CONGRESS MLA Raju Kage has given a call to all MLAs belonging to the Panchamsali community to resign en masse, demanding reservation under 2-A category. Kage said that already, several leaders had distanced themselves from the ongoing fight for reservation for the community and mere protests by seers and leaders would not serve any purpose.

At a meeting with seers of the Panchamsali community at Kagwad on Tuesday, Kage said all MLAs of the community should decide to immediately resign from their posts, to put pressure on the government demanding reservation. He said the government would certainly fulfill their demands if such drastic steps were taken by the Panchamsali MLAs, for the benefit of the community. The legislators should make such sacrifices for their community to create history, he added.

Every Panchamsali MLA has a key role to play in the ongoing fight for reservation, he said, adding that none should keep away from it and must take active part in the fight to reach the goal. While assuring the Panchamsali mutts and seers of standing by them in the ongoing struggle, Kage said several MLAs had won the recent Lok Sabha polls and were available in Parliament. He appealed to the state government to approach the Centre, demanding quota under the 2-A reservation matrix. Kage said he was prepared to quit as MLA, if the Panchamsalis were going to benefit by it. Basava Jaya Mrutunjaya Swamiji of Panchamasali Peetha, Kudalasangama, was also present at the meeting.

Panel wants Puri Ratna Bhandar opened on July 14

Locks can only be opened under special orders of the state govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar/Puri

THE Justice Biswanath Rath Committee has proposed to open the Ratna Bhandar of Shree Jagannath temple on July 14 with approval of the state government. The 16-member committee constituted under chairmanship of retired judge of Orissa High Court, Justice Rath, for supervising the inventorisation of jewellery and other valuables stored in Ratna Bhandar met for the second time in Puri on Tuesday.

It was decided that both the Bahara (outer) and Bhitara (inner) enclosures of the Ratna Bhandar can be opened on July 14 for both inventorisation and conservation works. The proposal will be moved to the state government for approval.

As per Shri Jagannath Temple Rules, 1960, the Ratna Bhandar locks can only be opened under special orders of the state government and subject to such conditions and limitations as it may decide. "Complying with the rules, we have submitted the proposal of opening the Ratna Bhandar to the temple management committee which will discuss and send it to the state government for approval," Justice Rath said.

He said the standard operating procedure (SOP) for opening of the Ratna Bhandar, inventory and conservation work has been drawn and will be submitted to the management committee for seeking government approval. "An unanimous decision was taken by the committee that Ratna Bhandar will be opened on July 14 even if the existing key to the treasury does not match with the lock. Accordingly, the chief administrator of Shree Jagannath Temple Administration will hand over the key to the committee on July 14."

The last Ratna Bhandar inventory was done from May 13 to July 23 in 1978.

Bengaluru scientists develop test kit for lumpy skin in cattle

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

BENGALURU based scientists have developed a easy to use test kits that will help in early detection of Lumpy Skin Disease (LSD) and Brucellosis among the cattle.

The kits have been developed by scientists and experts from Indian Council for Agricultural Research - National Institute of Veterinary Epidemiology and Disease Informatics (NIVEDI). The kits were distributed to farmers and laboratories, during the annual review meeting of the National Animal Disease Epidemiology Network in the Bengaluru campus, on Tuesday.

The first case of LSD was detected in India in 2019, and so far, over 50 lakh cases have been reported and there have been 2.50 lakh cattle deaths. Brucellosis is an old but dangerous disease, as it effects humans. To control this, the central government is keen to introduce a vaccine. The invention of this 'Made In India' kit will help in early detection, and help control the spread, explained Director of NIVEDI, Dr Baldev R Gulati.

The test kits cost Rs 100 and Rs 50 respectively. The animal husbandry department is working with the state to test animals for the diseases. The kits can be used on cows, buffaloes, goat, sheep, pigs, camel and horses.

Senior scientist at ICAR Dr Manjunath Reddy, who developed the LSD kit said, "So far, the LSD kits were being imported, and the tests were done in labs. Now, these antibody test kits that have been designed, are similar to the PCR test kits that were used during Covid-19. The results will be available within minutes. Before releasing the test kits, they were tested on over 15,000 samples, and was developed after a year's study.

Principal scientist at ICAR and an expert in Brucellosis, Dr Rajeshwari Shome said, the kit released on Tuesday, is the revised Indian version. So far, the kits were imported. "I started working on the kit from 2015, and first designed one where animal protein was used. The results would come in five hours. The new kit is similar to the pregnancy test kits, where blood or semen sample is used and the results are available in 2-3 minutes. We have shared the kit samples with 25 states and have sought for their feedback as well," she added.

During the event, NIVEDI signed a MoU with National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS), to enhance cooperation and share research initiatives focusing on zoonotic diseases and their impact on animal and human health.

NEHA MURDER

Father seeks copy of chargesheet

ENS @ Hubballi

NIRANJAN Hiremath, father of Neha Hiremath who was brutally murdered by her friend in college campus, has moved the court seeking a copy of the chargesheet filed by the CID to the Hubballi 1st additional and III JMFC court. Months after the murder, the state government had entrusted the investigation to CID. The team has completed its investigation and the chargesheet has been submitted to the court.

"Yesterday, the investigation team submitted the chargesheet. Since there is no provision for CID to provide us with a copy, I have appealed to the court to provide me a copy of the chargesheet, details of the investigation and their submission," told Niranjan.

The CID has filed a 483-page chargesheet. Accordingly, Hiremath has filed an application with the JMFC court hearing the matter. "We hoped to get the copy and the details today, but could not. Maybe tomorrow, I will be able to get the copy," he said.

He said that he is not aware of the chargesheet details. "The CM has promised a fair trial and investigation, and had told that the culprit will not go unpunished. We need to study the chargesheet carefully and then plan future course of action," he added.

Cops register UDR in BC Patil kin's death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere

HONNALI police registered a Unnatural Death Report (UDR) in the death of Prathap Kumar, son-in-law of former minister BC Patil, near Arakere village on Shivamogga-Harihar Road on Monday.

The police said that based on the complaint lodged by Prabhudev, brother of Prathap Kumar, they have registered a UDR case in the incident. In the complaint, Prabhudev has said that Prathap was depressed and disturbed by the thought of not having children even after 16 years of marriage. Prathap was the son of Vanajakshamma's (Patil's wife) uncle and Patil got his elder daughter married to him in 2008.

Prathap was found in an unconscious state at Arakere village on Shivamogga-Harihar Road in his car. The locals who found him informed the police. It was found that Prathap had consumed insecticide and was in an unconscious state. Immediately, he was shifted to Honnali taluk hospital after that to McGann district hospital in Shivamogga where he succumbed. Prathap Kumar was the native of Kattalagere village of Davanagere district. The body of Prathap Kumar was cremated at Kattalagere village on Tuesday.

B C Patil, who was totally disturbed by the incident said that Prathap was addicted to liquor and he had worries that he didn't have any children even after 16 years of marriage. "Prathap was like my son and was looking after my political constituency and my farms. Repeated drinking had harmed his liver and kidneys," said B C Patil.

HC dismisses PIL against 'hate' speech

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday dismissed a public interest litigation seeking seeking directions to government authorities to act against alleged hate speech by several state BJP leaders. Observing that the petition appeared to be politically motivated and allegations in the petitions were too general and unauthenticated, a division bench of Chief Justice N V Anjaria and Justice K V Aravind dismissed the petition filed by Mohammed Khaleelulla from Nagamangala in Mandya district.

The court also asked the petitioner as to why he is misusing and wasting the time of the court by filing such a petition.

The petitioner sought the court's directions to the state and central governments to hold the officials concerned accountable for not initiating action against 10 leaders, including Union Minister of State for Labour and Employment Shobha Karandlaje, MP Tejasvi Surya, K S Eshwarappa, C T Ravi, Pratap Simha, Basanagounda Patil Yatnal and M P Renukacharya, mentioned as respondents in the petition.

The petitioner also requested the court to issue directions to the state government to create awareness on hate speech, mob violence and mob lynching which attracts serious consequences and to take preventive measures.

HIV+ woman assaulted at care home in Kerala

Kochi: A 21-year-old girl, infected with HIV at birth, was ostracized, and forced to stay in a care facility far from her home in Ernakulam. Her suffering worsened when caregivers at the facility brutally assaulted her, tied her to a window and beat her, resulting in multiple fractures, in Nov 2023. The incident came to light when the accused sought anticipatory bail from Kerala HC. The court denied bail to Bincy Suresh of Idukki, Rajesh KV, Chengamanadu, Bindu Kurian of Karumalloor and Saly of Kattappana.

'Centre playing politics in approving med colleges'

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

ALLEGING that the Union government is indulging in politics while sanctioning medical colleges in the state, Congress leaders urged the Centre to grant permission for such colleges.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy said the Centre should be fair and impartial. He alleged the National Medical Commission (NMC) rejected the applications to start medical colleges in Ramanagara and Kanakapura on grounds of insufficient infrastructure.

Reddy said there is a need for medical colleges in these rural areas. The Centre needs to steer clear of petty politics in such matters, he said.

Kunigal Congress MLA Dr Ranganath D, who is a doctor, said, "I am disappointed that Ramanagara and Kanakapura have been left out. The decision appears to be motivated by political compulsions. It also appears to be a decision aimed at the Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who is from Kanakapura. I myself am a doctor and can say Ramanagara would have been excellent for clinical practice. A college there could have served students from Channapatna, Malavalli, Magadi and other adjoining rural areas thanks to good connectivity."

Shivakumar refrained from commenting on the politics behind it, and said, "It is our wish to bring a medical college to the district. It was also included in the budget. I am told the rejection was because of the shortage of staff. We will look into it."

Medical Education Minister Sharan Prakash Patil said, "NMC has approved medical colleges in three places -- one in Bagalkot, PES Medical College in Electronic City and BGS Medical College in Nagaroor, a suburb of Bengaluru. They said the infrastructure is not complete."

Former Bangalore Rural MP and Shivakumar's brother DK Suresh said, "It is disappointing that permission was not given. NMC said it is because of a lack of faculty infrastructure. Though we said we will comply with all the requirements, they wanted us to apply next year."

Karnataka has 70 medical colleges, 22 government-run, two ESI colleges and rest by private groups. Sources said they can try to get permission next year.

FRUIT BONANZA

Exotic fruits now home-grown, courtesy Malnad weather

RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI
@ Shivamogga

IT appears Shivamogga district is setting a model in exotic fruit cultivation and its sale. It was around 2-3 years ago, residents of the city started getting foreign fruits like Dragon fruit, Rambutan, Avocado and Macadamia Nut in malls and supermarkets. Those days, the fruits were sold for more than Rs 250 per kg and were not familiar even to people in semi-urban cities. But now in Malnad, these exotic fruits have entered the streets where vendors began selling them at an affordable price.

"For the first time in Shivamogga city, I have come across Dragon fruit and Avocados being sold by street vendors. Heaps of Dragon fruits have hit the Shivamogga market in the past 8-10 days. The vendors are selling the fruit at Rs 100 to 120 per kg and it is affordable," opined Shanmukha, a fruit stall owner. "Surplus fruits are being supplied to the market that has brought down prices of the Dragon fruit. Besides this, Avocado fruit too is available at Rs 100 per kg that was Rs 300 per kg a year before," said G N Prakash, deputy director, Department of Horticulture.

"The Malnad weather has paved the way for many foreign fruits' cultivation. Some years ago, Dragon fruit, Avocado, Rambutan and Macadamia Nut were not known to common people. Now, these fruits are sold by roadside vendors in Shivamogga city. Now, everybody is aware of the fruits which are affordable too," sources said. Thanks to a group of horticulture farmers who are growing these foreign fruits in a small portion of their land.

Talking to TNIE, G N Prakash said, "Slowly, our farmers have started growing several exotic foreign fruits like Avocado, Rambutan, Macadamia Nut and other such fruits in the Malnad region as the weather is conducive for it. In the coming years, these locally grown fruits will be available in larger quantities. In the neighbouring districts like Chitradurga, Chikkamagaluru and Davanagere too, farmers have started cultivating these fruits."

GOVT NEEDS A NEW APPROACH TO THE BUDGET

THE Union government will table the Budget for 2024-25 in parliament on July 23. Before it does so, the Narendra Modi-led government might want to look at the people's verdict at the recent Lok Sabha elections and opt for a course correction. Modi 3.0's diminished verdict reflected the anguish of a large section of voters at issues such as soaring joblessness, high inflation and unfavourable tax policies. These economic issues are hurting the people and the Budget is a suitable platform to address them in earnest.

The build-up to the full Budget for 2024-25 has, at least, raised hopes that it would deliver on making life easier for the people by leaving more money in their hands. If the government acts on pleas for changes to the income tax slabs, it would give immediate respite to salaried citizens. However, this would not be sufficient, because a number of goods and services have become unaffordable to a growing section of society. Much of a rate rationalisation exercise in the goods and services tax (GST) regime would need to go through the GST Council. However, the government can make a statement in this regard in the Budget and reassure people that the rates would not be solely driven by revenue concerns.

The government has, over the years, been limiting its role in education and healthcare, making tertiary healthcare and higher education out of reach for the masses. If this Budget reverses the trend and the government shows a renewed focus on building quality healthcare and educational institutions, it would help several sectors of the economy and go a long way towards building a Viksit Bharat.

The money spent on social schemes has often been seen with contempt. Not all subsidies to the poor should be derided as freebies—even though the government has succeeded in bringing down the level of extreme poverty, the number in need of such schemes is still huge in the world's most populous nation. The government has rightly taken pride in spending substantial amounts on infrastructure, but the quality of infrastructure can be given renewed focus with an outcome-oriented approach. The finance minister, when she rises to present the Budget, would do well to shun a fiscal fundamentalist approach. An empathetic touch is called for in this Budget more than a document crammed with arithmetical homilies.

IOA MUST PRESENT A UNITED FRONT NOW

AS things stand, the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) seems to have two faces—and one of them is not good. Let us turn our attention to the good first. There have been quite a few groundbreaking decisions taken by the IOA to make the Paris Olympics a comfortable one for the athletes. They have assembled a 13-member medical team for the first time to attend to the athletes' needs. There will be a sleep therapist, a psychologist and nutritionists, too. The medical room will be operational 24x7. The organisers have managed a few commercial deals as well. The IOA will be taking care of the support staff accommodated outside the Games Village. The IOA has also looked into requests to accommodate personal coaches. The ikat-inspired ceremonial kit for the opening has been designed by Tarun Tahiliani. Overall, with help from the sports ministry and the Sports Authority of India (SAI), the preparation has been quite robust and smooth.

Yet, one thing is threatening to shift the focus away. After much delay and parley, the organisers announced Gagan Narang as chef de mission on Monday, long after M C Mary Kom stepped down in April. They have aptly chosen one Olympic medallist to replace another. But with only about two weeks remaining, the IOA members seem to be divided. As of Tuesday, the executive committee was still not aligned with the IOA president, P T Usha, over the appointment of CEO Raghuram Iyer. Meanwhile, the CEO's appointment has been endorsed by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and he has been attending meetings with the sports ministry and SAI. Though the new sports minister had shown serious intent to end the stalemate, a lasting solution still seems far away. In a symbolic gesture, the minister even went to the IOA Bhawan right after assuming office. At best, there could be a truce before the Games.

This might severely impact the 2036 Olympic Games bid talks that India is planning with the IOC during the Games. A united house is a must for a strong bid and the IOC has already pointed this out. The IOA must be cautious and put the interest of the athletes first. Perhaps it is time for all members to come together for the Olympics. After all, the Games and the athletes' interests should take precedence.

QUICK TAKE

FOR ÉGALITÉ, FRATERNITÉ

WHAT a difference a week makes. The world agonised when the far-right National Rally won a third of the votes in the first round of France's National Assembly election. But in the second round polled a week later, the pendulum swung left. New Popular Front, an alliance of leftist and green parties, won the largest number of seats. This massive swing did not come out of thin air. A large section of the French intelligentsia and icons like Kylian Mbappé exhorted the nation to reject the far right. The seat arrangements and tactical voting that followed showed that those who value égalité and fraternité can be resiliently effective when they come together.

The Patna High Court's scrapping of Bihar's higher reservation cap has lobbed the ball back to Nitish Kumar. No one will be immune from the fallout at next year's assembly poll

A CAP THAT IS REFUSING TO FIT ALL HEADS

DM DIWAKAR
Honorary Director and Professor, Development Research Institute, Jalsain, and former Director, A N Sinha Institute of Social Studies, Patna

ON June 20, the Patna High Court set aside the amendment in Bihar's reservation policy that had been passed by the previous JDU-RJD government. The amendment, based on a caste survey, sought to enhance the total caste-based reservation in jobs to 65 percent. The high court went by the Supreme Court's 1992 decision to cap such reservation at 50 percent and struck down the Bihar amendment. Now, the JDU-BJP led state government has challenged the decision in the Supreme Court. It is interesting to note that amid all this to and fro, Nitish Kumar has remained chief minister.

The Patna High Court's decision confused many observers not well-versed with legal nuances. Especially because Tamil Nadu has a provision for 69 percent reservation under the Ninth Schedule of the Constitution. Once any act is brought under this Schedule, which was introduced by the first constitutional amendment in 1951, it has some immunity under Article 31B from being legally challenged.

The TN quota was arrived at with changing caste and class calculations made by chief ministers M Karunanidhi and M G Ramachandran through the 1970s and 80s. We must also acknowledge the contribution of another former CM, K Kamaraj, who took the case to the then PM Jawaharlal Nehru to enable the state to take affirmative action by amending Articles 15 and 16 of the Constitution. Later, many similar provisions were enacted by other states and challenged in court. A plea on the TV reservation is still pending before the Supreme Court.

The Patna High Court verdict has come before the state's assembly election due in 2025. The previous JDU-RJD government was aiming at this election when it initiated the caste survey and enhanced reservation to 65 percent in 2023. After the court verdict, Nitish Kumar's NDA government has challenged the decision in the Supreme Court. If the appeal is not sustained, the substantial exercise of the caste survey will be of little political use for Nitish.

But the survey will surely affect the state election. It has raised expectations among castes leaders, as now they clearly know their numerical strengths. This will affect political expectations of their representation. Every party will have to face this changed calculus and strike a fine balance, otherwise their fortunes will change.

MANDAR PARDIKAR

A litmus test is coming up for the JDU-BJP honeymoon in the next few months. Nitish will face challenges in consolidating his party and its social base to keep the cadre and leaders on his side and the allies in good humour. The BJP will have to consolidate its allies too. Now, it's for the NDA government to secure a spot for the enhanced quota law in the Ninth Schedule, as Tamil Nadu did. If the BJP demurs, as it has indicated in the past, it would transmit a message against the double-engine sarkar to Bihar's voters.

The NDA regime has not yet succeeded in the matter of granting Bihar a special status. This will provide an opportunity to the INDIA bloc in general and the Tejashwi Yadav-led RJD in particular to counter the NDA government.

The BJP has already announced that the next assembly election will be fought under Nitish's leadership, so that he does not again move away from the NDA. Nitish, too, knows that some in the RJD would rather have him move to national politics. However, politics is a game of possibilities—and one of the hardest things to know is Nitish's next political move. It's said the right hand of Nitish Kumar does not know what his left hand will do before the next polls.

Nitish has also started reconfiguring his party with the state poll in view. At JDU's national executive committee meeting on June 29, he made Sanjay Jha the party's working president, eyeing the votes of Brahmins in Mithilanchal. The party also made Rajiv Ranjan 'Lalan' Singh, a Bhumihar, a cabinet minister, and Ramnath Thakur, son of Karpoori Thakur from an economically backward class, a minister too. Nitish, known for canny social engineering, has upper-caste and EBC votes in his crosshairs. Jha is also said to be close to the BJP.

Nitish had to pay a heavy price at the last assembly election when Chirag Paswan fielded candidates in every seat. It was an open secret that many of the candidates were BJP proxies. As a result, the JDU was reduced from 73 to 41 in the 243-seat assembly. At next year's hustings, Chirag may not be as aggressive as the last time, but the BJP would not want to give Nitish room to grow stronger.

Bihar implemented the Mungerilal Commission Report in 1976, much before the central government's Mandal Commision. The BJP, which has generally been against reservation, withdrew support for the V P Singh government at the Centre in the 1990s as Singh did not agree to support the Kamandal Rath led by Lal Krishna Advani, which tried to frame the national narrative on the Mandal Commission. Advani's rath was stopped in Bihar by the then CM Lalu Prasad Yadav. It's also on record that the RSS has reiterated its call to review the reservation policy. However, BJP leaders have repeatedly supported its continuation in the face of vote-bank realities. We must remember that NDA member Chirag's father, the late Ram Vilas Paswan, advocated reservation in the private sector, too.

It's clear that those in favour of privatisation are generally against reservation in jobs, as it would stand in the way of the government's target of selling more state assets to raise revenues. Reservation becomes meaningless with fewer jobs in the public sector. Still, affirmative action to protect marginalised communities will remain a sensitive issue. No party in government can afford to take a direct position against it. Hence the use of disinvestment, privatisation, contract appointments, and Agniveer are seen as indirect methods of achieving the same goal. Nitish is no exception from those facing these opposing compulsions.

THE STINGING DISSENT TO TRUMP IMMUNITY RULING

NARASIMHAN VIJAYARAGHAVAN
Advocate, Madras High Court

BE you ever so high, the law is above you. That adage recently yielded to the dictum that Donald J Trump is above it all. On July 1, the last day before the Supreme Court of the US (SCOTUS) rose for summer recess and three days before the US celebrated its 248th year of independence, the justices delivered an epochal verdict. It was a severe blow to the democratic principles revered in the oldest democracy—it rendered POTUS (President of the US) an emperor of all he surveyed.

The judgement is worth reading—not for the words of the conservative majority of six Republican-appointed justices, who went beyond providing a protective cover to Trump in an election year—but the brilliant dissent from the only Latino justice in SCOTUS's 234-plus years' history, Sonia Sotomayor.

In her scathing dissent, Justice Sotomayor accused the SCOTUS majority of making Trump a "king above the law" for limiting the scope of criminal charges against the former president for his role in the January 6, 2021 riot at the US Capitol and efforts to overturn the election. Sotomayor called the majority verdict "utterly indefensible". She wrote in a sharp language rare from the judicial pulpit: "The court effectively creates a law-free zone around the president, upsetting the status quo that has existed since the founding." Other liberal justices Elena Kagan and Ketanji Brown Jackson joined Sotomayor—all three Democratic appointments—with Jackson referring to the ruling's consequences as a "five-alarm fire".

Dissents have always mattered. They go beyond the present. Charles Evan Hughes, the US chief justice through the 1930s, famously said, "A dissent in a court of last resort is an appeal to the brooding spirit of law, to the intelligence of a future day when a later decision may possibly correct the error into which the dissenting justice believes the court to have been betrayed." He has been quoted multiple times in all democratic polities including in India, as in the famous dissent of Justice H R Khanna in the infamous Additional District Magistrate, Jabalpur case of 1976.

While Trump claimed the decision was "a huge victory for democracy", Biden called it a "dangerous precedent". The Nine on the Bench have become an issue in the November POTUS elections. Trump is a felon convicted on 34 counts. He is facing more criminal prosecutions in the classified documents' case and the January 6 riot case.

It was in the context of these prosecutions that Trump raised the issues of executive privilege and absolute immunity for POTUS. Washington district Judge Tanya Chutkan, on December 1, 2023 rejected Trump's argument that he could not face prosecution for official actions he took as president, as the US presidency "does not confer a lifelong 'get-out-of-jail-free' pass". Trump's appeal to the federal appellate jurisdiction failed. From that emerged the docket before SCOTUS, which was certified fit to be heard by the Nine.

AP

Justice Sonia Sotomayor's sharp dissent against the US Supreme Court's majority decision granting Donald Trump limited immunity will be remembered for its stout defence of democratic principles. It's a rebuke of the dangerous precedent that put a president above the law

The ruling by the six in majority—Chief Justice John Roberts authoring it, and justices Clarence Thomas, Samuel Alito, Neil Gorsuch, Brett Kavanaugh and Amy Coney Barrett joining in—is that Trump had "broad protection for actions that fell within his official responsibilities as POTUS". The effect is that the complex task of determining how to apply the 'broad immunity' in the four-count criminal indictment is left to the pending trial in the lower court. It is an escape route for Trump. Chutkan will have to conduct a detailed examination of the indictment to determine which of Trump's actions were official and must be stricken from the case and which were private acts that can proceed to trial. Easy to suggest, but near impossible to carry out.

The same SCOTUS had, on June 24, 2022 in the Dobbs vs Jackson Women's Health Organization decision, removed the federal constitutional right to abortion for individuals in the US, which had been in place for almost 50 years, on the historical ground that 'abortion' was not even contemplated by the framers of the US Constitution. But they forgot 'history' in the Trump immunity case. Of late, Roberts' court has morphed into an openly partisan Republican one.

This is where the dissent of Justice Sotomayor kicks in. She was ruthless in her choice of words. And she chose to read her 29-page dissent for 25 minutes, looking at the audience when she emphasised her stinging dissent. She read, "The president of the US is the most powerful person in the country, and possibly the world. When he uses his official powers in any way under the majority's reasoning, he now will be insulated from criminal prosecution."

Be you ever so high—the principle has roots in English common law and has influenced American legal thought. It aligns with democratic ideals and prevents tyranny. Remember that Trump has promised to be a dictator on Day One of his presidency. Any Supreme Court is a political institution as justices Benjamin Cardozo, Louis Brandeis and our own V R Krishna Iyer branded them.

Lest the SCOTUS majority claimed they were abiding by Rule of the Law, some punchlines from the Sotomayor dissent have gone viral: "Orders the Navy Seal Team 6 to assassinate a political rival? Immune. Organises a military coup to hold onto power? Immune. Takes a bribe in exchange for a pardon? Immune, immune, immune."

Constitutional values

Ref: Why society turns to miracle workers (Jul 9). The author has rightfully pointed out that superstition is possibly one of the biggest killers in India. Instead of adhering to such beliefs, faith in constitutional values could help citizens and society at large.

God complex

So-called godmen are gradually snatching thrones from the actual gods to deliver blessings to the suffering masses. People in India, instead of thinking of ways to solve their problems in life, seem to think more about gods and goddesses. The author has observed minutely the cause of the Hathras stampede.

Govt inaction

The article clearly exposes the UP government's inaction in dealing with such cases due to political compulsions. The society turns to miracle workers due to the failure of the government in solving their problems. Our media, too, seems to sometimes forget its responsibility in educating society.

Avoidable sarcasm

Frequent sarcasm against Prime Minister Narendra Modi belittles the stature of prominent opposition leaders. Congress leader Jairam Ramesh referred to the PM as 'non-biological' at least four times in his comments about the PM's Russia visit. Leaders of Jairam Ramesh's stature should realise that such sarcasm speaks volumes about their small minds.
Suryanarayana Murty Peri, Bhawanipatna

Posting etiquette

Self-styled intellectuals of the Congress seem to have crossed all limits while criticising the PM. In trying to show one-upmanship over others, Jairam Ramesh called Modi 'non-biological'. He should maintain some etiquette while posting comments on X.

Jammu vigil

In the wake of a series of terror attacks in the Jammu region, strict vigil should be imposed with full vigour in order to save the lives of our jawans. In an attack in Kathua two days ago, our soldiers killed two militants at the expense of a jawan's life. In retaliation, they killed four of our brave soldiers. This is shameful for us. Some proactive actions like surgical strike or air strikes should be carried out immediately in order to nip such incidents in the bud itself.

Open hearing on same-sex marriage nixed

CJI Chandrachud says constitution bench review is heard in chambers; five-judge bench to hear petitions today

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday did not agree to give an open court hearing on the review petitions challenging the top court judgment that refused to legally recognise same-sex marriage.

A bench headed by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud said that the constitution bench review is heard not in the open court but in chambers. The SC's clarification came when the petitioners in the same sex marriage case pleaded the bench to conduct the hearing in an open court.

Senior advocates Abhishek Manu Singhvi and Niraj Kishan Kaul, pleading for some petitioners, mentioned the review petition matter before the Chief Justice-led bench against the same sex marriage verdict. "Can the review petitions, please be done in the open court, as an open court hearing," Kaul made an appeal.

The CJI said reviews are decided in chamber and a constitution bench will deal with merits of the pleas. "The review petitions, whether to be heard in open court, are also decided by judges in chamber sans lawyers," the CJI said.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to hear on July 10 the batch of petitions seeking review of the verdict refusing to recognize same-sex marriages. A five-judge bench, led by CJI Chandrachud, will hear the pleas in a chamber. The other four judges include Justices Sanjiv Khanna, BV Nagarathna, Hima Kohli and P S Narasimha.

In the newly constituted bench of the apex court, Justices Khanna and Nagarathna would replace Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul and S Ravindra Bhat (both had retired after delivering the verdict in October 17 last year). The review petitions are being heard in a chamber where no parties -- whether petitioner, respondent or lawyer or litigant – would be present.

The Supreme Court had on October 17 last year, in its landmark judgement, declined to grant legal recognition to same-sex marriages. "It is only for the Parliament and state legislatures to create such institutions and grant them legal validation. Role of legislature has been to be act as a codifier of customs and wherever necessary intervene in furtherance of Article 14 and 15(3) to enact laws," the SC had said in its verdict. The SC was also unanimous that it was beyond their purview to issue a positive direction and or order to the legislature to accord legal recognition to same-sex marriage.

SC to pronounce verdict on Bengal petition on CBI probe into post-poll violence today

The Supreme Court would pronounce its verdict on Wednesday on the West Bengal government's suit alleging that the CBI is pressing ahead with the investigation into the post-poll violence cases in the state without securing its prior nod as per the law. A two-judge bench of the top court, led by Justice B R Gavai and Justice Sandeep Mehta, which had reserved its verdict on May 3, after hearing a detailed arguments from WB govt and Centre, would pronounce the verdict on Wednesday at around 10.30 am.

Graham Staines murder convict seeks remission

Charges against him

The prosecution stated that Singh burned alive Staines and his two sons, Philip, 10, and Timothy, 6, as they slept in their jeep in a forest clearing in Manouharpur-Baripada on the night of January 21-22, 1999. Staines was an Australian Christian missionary working with leprosy victims.

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

DARA Singh, the convict who has served 24 years in prison for the murder of Australian Christian missionary Graham Stuart Staines, moved the Supreme Court on Tuesday seeking remission. Singh argues that if Rajiv Gandhi's killers were granted mercy, he should also be released prematurely.

A two-judge bench of the apex court, led by Justice Hrishikesh Roy and Justice S.V.N. Bhatti, issued a notice to the Odisha government, requesting a detailed reply to Singh's plea. The matter has been scheduled for further hearing in six weeks.

Vishnu Jain, Singh's lawyer, cited the judgment that granted mercy to the convicts in the Rajiv Gandhi assassination case. "I am seeking a direction to be released from jail on this ground," Jain stated. The prosecution stated that Singh burned alive the 58-year-old Staines and his two sons, Philip, 10, and Timothy, 6, as they slept in their jeep in a forest clearing in Manouharpur-Baripada on the night of January 21-22, 1999. Staines was an Australian Christian missionary working with leprosy victims.

Singh alleged he is being discriminated against in the matter of consideration of premature release as similarly situated persons who have been incarcerated for the same or lesser period have been released prematurely.

Amid bridge collapses in Bihar, NHAI team of design experts set up

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has constituted a team of design experts to review of all decisions related to blueprints.

The possibilities to form a 'design division' were discussed during the executive committee meeting held last month after which the agency initiated the hiring process. The team of nine experts will have a bridge or structural engineer, hydrology experts, geologist and quantity surveyor.

The team will be assist NHAI and advice it on design related activities or layout plan and verify on a comprehensive scheme prepared by the consultant. It will also study the soil investigation report and confirm the adequacy of geo-technical details and recommendations.

A recent circular on hiring of design experts stated that the division will check and review the adequacy of design for various components of bridge; foundation, substructure and superstructure considering the durability and long term serviceability.

The team will also assess and verify the sequence and methodology of construction. Analysis of any revision of the design and drawings supporting the structure due to change in site conditions or any other valid reason would also be done by the newly formed teams of experts.

"To assist NHAI on any technical matters…To review the geotechnical data…to prepare standard drawing and design of structure like VUPs (vehicle underpasses), LVUPs (light vehicle underpasses), culverts, among other works," read the circular.

Cong seeks breach of privilege against PM over Ansari remarks

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Jairam Ramesh has sought breach of privilege proceedings against Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Rajya Sabha for allegedly making "derogatory" remarks against former chairman of the Upper House Hamid Ansari. In his letter to Rajya Sabha Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar, Ramesh claimed that the PM has broken all parliamentary norms, decorum and set a new low to the dignity of the office of the prime minister.

"I wish to bring to your notice a serious incident of breach of privilege and contempt of the House on the part of the Prime Minister of India. On July 2, 2024, prime minister while replying to the discussion on the Motion of Thanks on the President's Address in Lok Sabha inter alia stated: 'No matter how many numbers they claim, when we came in 2014, our strength in the Rajya Sabha was very low, and the Chair's inclination was somewhat on the other side'," the Congress leader said.

Notwithstanding the fact that the prime minister did not specifically took the name of Ansari, needless to state that these "derogatory remarks" were attributed to the former chairman, Rajya Sabha, Ramesh said in his letter to Dhankhar, who is also the vice president.

"The accusation attributed to Dr. Hamid Ansari of 'leaning' towards the Opposition made by the prime minister is wholly unacceptable and grossly derogatory to say the least, apart from being completely false," he said.

Incidentally, this is not the first time that the prime minister has targeted former vice president Ansari, Ramesh said in his letter dated July 8.

He pointed out that on August 10, 2017, the prime minister in his farewell speech on Ansari's retirement in the Balayogi Auditorium had alluded to then retiring chairman's earlier diplomatic postings in a "mischievous manner".

Reconsider centralised system of CUET exam, demands RSS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE RSS has termed discrepancies in the answer keys of the CUET-UG examination as "extremely serious, highlighting the structural flaws in competitive exams." Devendra Singh, national convenor, Competitive Examinations, Shiksha Sanskriti Utthan Nyas, an RSS body on education, has called for reforms and proposed alternatives.

Singh said that it was essential first to consider whether all state and private universities, except Central universities, need to be included in the CUET-UG and PG exams. "Each state has its own circumstances and the availability of courses and resources varies between state and private universities. Considering the diversity, large population, and inter-university differences, a single exam for the entire country's university system is not a sensible option," he said.

He stated that the institutions conducting the exams should engage in serious introspection about why they cannot provide correct answers to even 100-50 questions despite having the resources. "It should also be considered how to involve knowledgeable and dedicated professors in the question-making process," he added.

He said the problem of incorrect answer keys is widespread, from the Union Public Service Commission to the State Staff Selection Commissions. Therefore, the construction of question papers and the examination process should be made a mandatory part of service duty for scholarly professors across the country. "Participation in question paper construction, evaluation of competitive exam papers, and interview panels should be declared an indispensable part of service duty," he said.

The standards for determining who qualifies for constructing question papers vary significantly across different institutions, which should also be reconsidered and redefined, he said. "Qualified professors, other experts, and retired scholars should be given ample opportunity to contribute to the creation of objective question banks," said Singh.

'Organiser' echoes Oppn concerns over delimitation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

SHARING the concerns of opposition parties, especially those from the South, about the delimitation of constituencies, RSS' weekly Organiser said in its editorial that regional imbalance can impact the delimitation process of the parliamentary constituencies.

In its cover story, the weekly has pushed for a national population policy where it has not only flagged a "population imbalance" in terms of a "rising Muslim population" against those of Hindus but also lower birth rates placing western and southern states at a "disadvantage" during delimitation.

The article stresses the southern "disadvantage" as redrawing electoral boundaries is likely to help the BJP. "States from the West and South are doing relatively better regarding population control measures and, therefore, fear losing a few seats in Parliament if the base population is changed after the census," it said.

Tactical shift, scarce intel put forces on defensive in J&K

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

FIVE soldiers were killed and as many wounded in a terror attack in the remote Machedi area of J&K's Kathua district on Monday, reflecting a spurt in terror attacks and hinting at changes in tactics by terrorists. It also revealed weaknesses involving troop deployment.

Sources in the security establishment indicate a thinner troop deployment, scarce ground intelligence inputs, and a tactical shift in terrorist strategy. The area earlier was looked after by a battalion (around 800 troops) which at present has two companies (around 260 troops). Also, terrorists have reduced taking logistics support from the locals and are using caves/caverns for hiding, sources said.

The thick foliage and tree canopies add to the camouflage both from aerial surveillance and human tracking, they added. "These terror operations are being led by retired soldiers of the Special Service Group, the special operations group of Pakistan Army," said a source.

The Machedi incident is the second major attack in Kathua within a month, following a similar confrontation on June 12 and 13 that left two terrorists and a CRPF jawan dead.

SP Vaid, former Jammu and Kashmir Police, had told this newspaper that militant infiltration has not stopped. "Pakistan has a militant factory which churns out attackers in J&K to cause disturbance," he said. The spurt in terror attacks in Jammu is a planned move by terrorists "to draw attention" to their self-belief that "terrorism is not dead". Sources in the security establishment said keeping in mind the shifting focus of terrorism in Jammu, the government has authorised confiscation of properties of supporters of terrorists.

There are a few terrorists who feel emboldened by their recent successes, but it is a matter of time when they will be picked up

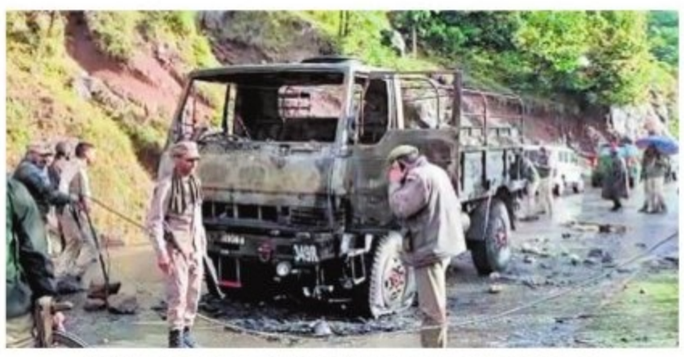
NIA to probe '23 Poonch terror attack: MHA

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi



NIA files chargesheet in drug seizure case

The NIA on Tuesday filed another charge sheet and named one person, identified as Manoj Kumar Sharma from Batala in Punjab, for his alleged involvement in the Salaya drug seizure case. The case pertained to smuggling and distribution of 500 kg of heroin from Pakistan into India via Gujarat, officials said. The officials said that Sharma has been named in the seventh supplementary charge sheet filed before the NIA Special Court in Ahmedabad and he happened to be 25th accused charged in the case. The proceeds of the drug sales were used to fund terrorists and terror organisations in Kashmir, they added.

THE government has handed over the probe into last year's terror attack on an Army convoy in J&K's Poonch that left five personnel dead to the National Investigation Agency, as Pak-based handlers are suspected to be behind the attack, officials said on Tuesday.

NIA officials said the process of taking over the investigation into the matter from Jammu & Kashmir Police has begun and a fresh FIR will be registered by the agency soon. Officials said the probe by NIA sleuths would ascertain any "common angle" in last year's attack with the recent attacks in J&K. The involvement of Pak-based handlers in the case would also be looked into, they added.

On April 20 last year, five Army personnel were martyred and another was seriously injured after their vehicle caught fire following a terrorist attack in the Bhata Dhurian area under Poonch district.

The Army had then said the vehicle carrying soldiers came under fire from unidentified terrorists and it caught fire because of the likely use of grenades. The victims of the attack were from a Rashtriya Rifles unit deployed for counter-terror operations.

Meanwhile, the NIA on Tuesday dispatched a team of its officers to assist the J&K police in its probe into the terrorist attack on an Army convoy in Kathua. Five Army personnel, including a junior commissioned officer, were killed, and as many were injured when a group of heavily armed terrorists ambushed a patrolling party on the rugged Machedi-Kindli-Malhar mountainous road near the Badnota

Ban on SFJ under UAPA extended for another 5 yrs

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Tuesday issued a notification extending the ban on 'terror outfit' Sikhs For Justice by declaring it again an unlawful association for a further period of five years beginning from July 10, 2024.

The Union Ministry of Home Affairs in the notification said that the ban on the SFJ has been extended under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967, citing its involvement in "anti-national and subversive activities aimed at disrupting the sovereignty and territorial integrity of India".

The MHA said that the SFJ had been found to be involved in activities that are "prejudicial to the internal security of India and public order", including supporting violent extremism and militancy in Punjab and carving out a sovereign Khalistan from the Indian territory.

In a 1st, IIT-Jodhpur to offer BTech in Hindi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IIT Jodhpur will offer first-year BTech courses in both Hindi and English from this academic year to help students who face challenges due to limited English proficiency, the union education ministry said on Tuesday. "This initiative is designed to ensure all students can learn effectively in the language they are most comfortable with. Both sections will be taught by the same instructor, maintaining consistency and quality. This is a significant step towards fostering a more inclusive and supportive educational environment at IIT Jodhpur," the ministry said.

Under the new initiative, courses will be split based on language preference, with the same instructor teaching both Hindi and English sections to maintain a consistent quality of education. This approach is expected to help students who struggle to grasp complex technical concepts in a less familiar language, officials said.

The initiative is in line with the National Education Policy 2020. In 2021, AICTE approved BTech courses in 11 regional languages across the country.

"By offering courses in both Hindi and English, IIT Jodhpur is demonstrating its commitment to accommodating students from diverse linguistic backgrounds," the institute said in a statement. "The senate noted that IIT-Jodhpur, being at the forefront of technology, science, humanities, and management, is expected to impart education in the native language to help students who face challenges in learning because of inadequacy in English proficiency," it said.

CCPA pulls up travel platform over booking

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA) has directed 'Yatra,' an online travel platform, to refund booking amounts to consumers affected by the Covid-19 pandemic lockdown. There is over ₹2.5 crore still pending for refund from Yatra for 4,837 passengers, although approximately ₹23 crore has already been refunded to consumers.

The authority instructed the travel platform to appoint five professionals at the National Consumer Helpline to facilitate the seamless resolution of consumer grievances. These professionals will directly inform passengers and coordinate to process their pending refunds.

It has clarified that the costs incurred for engaging these five dedicated personnel will be fully covered by Yatra. The Central Consumer Protection Authority received many grievance calls related to the non-refund of canceled air tickets due to the Covid-19 lockdown.

Rahul meets martyred officer's kin in Raebareli

Capt Anshuman Singh's mother says she is opposed to new scheme

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN his second visit to his parliamentary constituency within a month, Congress MP and leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi arrived on a day-long trip to Raebareli on Tuesday.

On the way to Raebareli, he stopped at Churwa temple of Lord Hanuman near Bachchrawan and offered his prayers.

On reaching Raebareli, Rahul Gandhi drove to Bhuemau guest house, where he met party workers, multiple delegations and local people.

Later in the day, the Congress MP met the family of Kirti Chakra recipient Captain Anshuman Singh, whose mother later spoke out against the Agniveer scheme.

"I request the government not to divide the Army into two categories," said the martyr's mother Manju Singh after meeting Rahul.

Speaking further about the Army recruitment scheme launched by the government in 2022 for short-term recruitment of jawans, Singh said the four-year job role was not good as Agniveers after completing their stint with the Army would still struggle to find another career.

> They (Agniveers) will be mentally and physically weak after four years after which they would be unable to pursue their studies... this is not good. —Manju Singh, martyr's mother

"They (Agniveers) will be mentally and physically weak after four years after which they would be unable to pursue their studies... this is not good," she added. Captain Anshuman Singh was posthumously conferred the Kirti Chakra, India's second-highest peacetime gallantry award, by President Droupadi Murmu on July 5 during an investiture ceremony.

Capt Singh had died while rescuing people from a major fire in Siachen, in July, last year. Rahul Gandhi had called the martyr's family, which resides in Lucknow, to meet them at Bhuemau guest house in Raebareli.

After meeting the Congress MP, the late officer's mother told reporters that he promised all possible support to the family. "Rahul said that he requested the government to end the Agniveer scheme as it is not good for the Army," she said.

However, contradicting his wife's statement on Agniveer, martyred officer's father Ravi Singh, himself an ex-armyman, denied having discussed Agniveer topic with Rahul.

He said that it was one-on-one interaction with Rahul and it was focused on the sacrifice of his son.

SC to hear plea for probe into Hathras deaths

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

LAWYER Vishal Tiwari, who filed a Public Interest Litigation (PIL) in the Supreme Court on July 3, is seeking a court-monitored investigation and compensation for the victims of the tragic incident where 121 people lost their lives. On Tuesday, he brought the matter before the Chief Justice D.Y. Chandrachud-led bench, requesting an early hearing.

Tiwari emphasized the urgency of the case, highlighting the loss of 121 lives and calling for an independent investigation. "More than 120 people lost their lives in the incident," Tiwari reiterated, stressing the need for an expedited hearing. While the Chief Justice did not set a specific date for the hearing, he assured Tiwari that listing orders had already been issued. "It will be listed for hearing soon," he confirmed.

In his PIL, Tiwari seeks several directives, including the immediate formation of a five-member expert committee under the supervision of a retired Supreme Court judge, adequate compensation for the victims, and a court-monitored investigation into the horrific Hathras stampede incident, which claimed 120 lives. Additionally, Tiwari calls for the expert committee to propose and establish guidelines and safety measures.

CBI arrests 2 more from Bihar over NEET paper leak

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

THE CBI on Tuesday arrested two more suspects, including a candidate and father of another candidate, from the state capital in the NEET-UG 2024 paper leak case. The number of arrested persons in the case has gone up to 11.

Sources said that Sunny Kumar, an aspirant from Bihar's Nalanda district, was arrested by the CBI for his links with a gang involved in NEET-UG paper leak. Sunny had obtained the question paper and answer key hours before the exams on May 5. The probe agency considers his arrest as a significant lead in the case.

Ranjit Kumar, a resident of Gaya district, was also taken into custody for his involvement in the case. Sources said that Ranjit's son, an aspirant, is still evading arrest. Ranjit is said to have been in constant touch with the gang responsible for the question paper leak. "Ranjit's son, who is a candidate, will be in the net soon," said a CBI source.

The first arrests in the case were made by the probe agency from Bihar when Manish Prakash and Ashutosh Kumar were summoned for questioning and were subsequently arrested. They allegedly provided accommodation to the aspirants in the state capital's Khemnichak locality where they memorised the questions and answers key.

Earlier, a principal and vice-president of a Hazaribagh-based private school were arrested by the agency. Aman Singh along with three others was arrested from Jharkhand's Dhanbad district. The four suspects have been taken on police remand for further questioning, a senior officer said.

Aman and his associates were being questioned for their role in the paper leak case. Sources said the questioning of the four suspects would expose the role of the gang's kingpin Sanjeev Kumar Singh alias Sanjeev Mukhiya alias Lutan Mukhiya, transaction of money and exact number of candidates in touch with the gang.

The probe agency has intensified its operation to nab Rokey, a key aide of Sanjeev Mukhiya, the alleged mastermind behind the paper leak. Mukhiya's arrest has been delayed.

Row over minister Hafizul Hasan's 'oath'

Minister Hafizul Hasan saying 'Bismillahir Rahmanir Rahim' before and in between taking oath of office and secrecy on Monday has sparked controversy. BJP has termed it unconstitutional and demanded that he should be considered free from the post. Leader of Opposition Amar Kumar Bauri and Chief Whip Biranchi Narayan also met Governor CP Radhakrishnan on the issue and submitted a memorandum requesting not to allow Hafizul Hasan to take charge, because this oath is invalid and against the constitution.' State BJP co-election in-charge Himanta Biswa Sarma condemned the act on Twitter.

IIM Ranchi honours tribal freedom fighters

IIM Ranchi has dedicated its administrative, academic and library blocks to tribal freedom fighters, in a nod to India's past and relentless struggle for independence. Through this initiative, the institute aims to cultivate a profound sense of patriotism and respect for the nation's heritage among its students and faculty. This, the institute said, was commemorate India's storied past and a tribute to its relentless struggle for independence. These dedicated blocks serve as perpetual reminders of India's tribal freedom fighters and the rich cultural tapestry of the independence movement.

Ranchi suitable for apple cultivation

Temperate fruit apple is primarily cultivated in Jammu and Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, the hills of Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand and to some extent in north eastern states and Punjab also. However, initial experiments at Birsa Agricultural University (BAU) have indicated that it can be grown in Ranchi also. At Horticultural Biodiversity Park of BAU, three apple varieties viz., Scarlet spur, Jeromin and Anna were planted during February 2022. The variety Anna has started given fruits this year. Last year too, this variety had given some fruits while others are yet to bear fruits. Anna variety experienced good growth and development during this period.

Woman Maoist killed in C'garh's Kanker, arms & ammunition recovered

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

A woman Maoist was on Tuesday killed in an exchange of fire with security forces in Chhatisgarh's Kanker district, about 200 km south of Raipur, police said. Besides the body, which is yet to be identified, the forces also recovered two rifles and items of daily use from the encounter site as further search operation continues in the remote forested terrain, the police said.

"On a tip-off, a joint team of security forces comprising District Reserve Guard (DRG), Bastar Fighters and Border Security Force (BSF) was out on an anti-Maoist search operation close to Binagunda village where the rebels were said to have presence. As the forces arrived, the Maoists opened firing resulting in a gunfight," Kanker district police chief Indira Kalyan Elesela told this newspaper.

"The body of a female Maoist in uniform and .303 and .315 bore rifles were recovered. On the basis of initial identification inputs, the deceased seems to be associated with the Peoples' Liberation Guerrilla Army (PLGA) no. 5," Elesela said.

There were around 35 Maoists camping in the area and after the gun battle, they managed to escape into the nearby jungle, the SP said. "There was, however, no report of any injury sustained by the forces. The search operation by the security forces continues with the help of reinforcements in the area," he added.

Under the new BJP government, the security forces have carried out aggressive anti-Maoist operations with the renewed strategy targeting the rebels in the areas considered to be the latter's strongholds in the conflict-ridden Bastar zone.

With the latest encounter, the number of Maoists gunned down by security forces in Chhattisgarh so far this year has risen to 139, police said. Among them, 137 were killed in Bastar range and the remaining two in Dhamtari district. Kanker.

BMW hit-and-run: Sena leader son, who was on the run, arrested

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

BMW hit-and-run accused Mihir Shah, son of a Shiv Sena (Shinde) leader, was arrested by Mumbai Police on Tuesday from Virar in Thane district, two days after he allegedly rammed his luxury car into a two-wheeler, killing a woman and injuring her husband.

Along with Mihir Shah, another 11 people, including Shah's mother and two sisters, were detained, Mumbai police said. "These 11 people helped Mihir Shah abscond and evade police after the hit-and-run incident," a police officer said.

"Police had formed multiple teams to nab Mihir Shah, who was eventually tracked down to an apartment in Virar, which is around 65 km from Mumbai. He was taken to the Worli police station," the officer said.

In the probe it was also revealed that Mihir Shah's father Rajesh Shah helped his son run away from the spot of hit and run incident. Rajesh Shah was arrested on Sunday but released on bail a day later. The driver Rajrishi Bidawat is police custody till Thursday. Bidawat was sitting in the luxury car with Mihir,

Father helped son run away from incident spot

In the probe it was also revealed that Mihir Shah's father Rajesh Shah helped his son run away from the spot of hit and run incident. Rajesh Shah was arrested on Sunday but released on bail a day later. The driver Rajrishi Bidawat is police custody till Thursday.

"Rajesh Shah also tried to destroy evidence after the incident. He removed the number plate of the BMW besides removing the Shinde Sena sticker and its party symbol from the car so that no one would identify it. Rajesh Shah had even asked his driver to own up the blame saying he was driving the car when the accident took place," said a police official involved in the probe.

Police said Mihir was driving the BMW after partying at a Juhu bar with four friends. "The state excise department has sealed the bar in the Juhu area of Mumbai visited by Mihir and his friends on Saturday night, hours before he allegedly took the wheel of the car involved in the crash," an official said. The bar manager had served hard liquor to Mihir, who is yet to complete 24 years of age, violating Maharashtra's legal drinking age of 25, he said.

New dress code for college students soon

> Implementing a dress code will promote equality among students and enforce campus discipline. It will also help prevent outsiders from entering government college campuses
>
> Inder Singh Parmar, state's higher education minister

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

THE BJP-led government in Madhya Pradesh, under Mohan Yadav, is contemplating the introduction of a dress code for students in government colleges.

Inder Singh Parmar, the state's higher education minister, believes that a uniform dress code will instill a sense of equality and discipline among college students while also preventing the entry of outsiders onto campuses.

However, Arif Masood, a second-term MLA from the opposition Congress party, argues that the dress code should be optional rather than mandatory.

Speaking to journalists in Bhopal, Minister Parmar highlighted the potential rollout of the dress code starting with the PM College of Excellence. The inaugural institution, one of several planned for each district, is set to be opened by Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Indore on July 14.

"Implementing a dress code will promote equality among students and enforce campus discipline. It will also help prevent outsiders from entering government college campuses. We will consider the suggestions of students and college principals before finalising the dress code," Parmar stated on Tuesday.

According to sources in the higher education department, the government plans to introduce the dress code initially in government colleges, beginning with the PM College of Excellence. Subsequently, it may be expanded to other government colleges.

Congress MLA Arif Masood from the Bhopal-Central constituency emphasized that any dress code should be optional to respect religious practices. "Compulsory dress codes should not infringe on religious practices, such as prohibiting Muslim girls from wearing the Hijab. The religious freedom guaranteed by the Constitution must be upheld," Masood insisted.

Congress spokesperson Awanish Bundela criticised the BJP government, stating, "Instead of focusing solely on implementing a dress code in colleges, the government should prioritize improving the quality of education."

Schools to celebrate Ayodhya consecration

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

IN a move that's bound to intensify the debate on 'Saffronisation' in education, government schools in Rajasthan will now celebrate Ramlala Pran Pratishtha Day annually, marking a unique initiative by the Bhajanlal government.

The Pran-Pratishtha ceremony of the Ram's temple was held in Ayodhya on January 22 this year, and to commemorate this event, State Education Minister Madan Dilawar has announced that January 22 will be celebrated as Ramlala Pran Pratishtha Day in all government schools across Rajasthan. This date has been officially included in the education department's annual calendar and its list of festival days.

The new calendar recently launched by School Education Minister Madan Dilawar does not specify how this day will be celebrated and what exactly the students will have to do on this day. However, according to the new educational calendar, students will be informed about the significance of the day and encouraged to engage in discussions and create artwork depicting its importance. The calendar shares general directions whereby students will be informed about the importance of the day and drawings will be made by students depicting the Ram Temple Pran-Pratishtha ceremony on that particular day.

The Bhajan Lal Sharma government claims this initiative will foster a deeper understanding and appreciation of cultural heritage among students.

However, experts have raised concerns about this move, viewing it as an attempt to saffronize education. Some analysts suggest that the BJP, is leveraging the popularity of the Ram temple for political gains. They argue that the move aims to keep the issue of the Ram Temple alive despite not achieving the desired results in the Lok Sabha elections. Sources within the party indicate that the BJP believes it did not campaign effectively on the Ram Mandir issue and is now attempting to compensate through such decisions.

Rescuers clear hospital rubble, Kyiv in mourning

KYIV

RESCUE workers continued clearing debris as Ukraine observed a day of mourning Tuesday, after a deadly Russian strikes shattered a children's hospital in Kyiv and sparked international condemnation.

President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said 38 people across Ukraine were killed — including four children — and 190 wounded by a barrage of nearly 40 missiles that targeted several towns and cities on Monday.

Officials announced a day of mourning in the capital with flags to be hung at half-mast and entertainment events postponed, as cranes and first responders were working at the scene of the Okhmatdyt paediatric hospital.

Zelenskyy said rescue work was ongoing at several of the attack sites and that patients from Okhmatdyt had been transferred to other facilities.

The interior ministry said it had completed its search for survivors at the hospital and that two people were killed there and 32 wounded. Eight children had been hospitalised, it said.

"At the time of the attack, 627 children were in the hospital," military authorities in Kyiv added. The president has been urging allies to bolster Ukrainian air defence systems and was expected to renew those pleas as a NATO summit kicked off later Tuesday.

"We are continuing our work to increase the protection of our cities and communities from Russian terror. There will be decisions. The world has the necessary strength for this," Zelenskyy added.

The attack was roundly condemned by governments across Europe and North America, with Pope Francis voicing "grave sorrow" over the strikes. Ukraine was set for a fiery clash with Russia at the UN Security Council later Tuesday after Kyiv's allies called for an emergency meeting in the wake of deadly strikes by Moscow.

Russia currently holds the rotating presidency of the Security Council and its envoy to the United Nations, Vasily Nebenzya, indicated earlier this month he will take a firm line with Ukraine and its Western allies.

Zelenskyy said some 400 rescuers had responded to the strikes but hundreds of volunteers gathered at the Okhmatdyt complex on Monday to help clear rubble and search for survivors. AFP

Moscow says it captured another village

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN forces have captured another village in eastern Ukraine near the Russian-held city of Donetsk, the defence ministry said on Tuesday.

Russian units "liberated the settlement of Yasnobrodovka", the ministry said in its report.

In a related development, Russian forces destroyed 38 Ukrainian drones overnight in regions near the border, defence ministry said Tuesday.

"Air defence systems on duty destroyed and intercepted three UAVs over Belgorod region, seven UAVs over Kursk region, two UAVs over Voronezh region, 21 UAVs over Rostov region and five UAVs over Astrakhan region," the ministry said in a Telegram post.

Astrakhan governor Igor Babushkin said Ukraine had launched a "massive attempt to attack targets with drones" in the north of the region, adding that the attack had been "successfully repelled". AFP

French parties begin talks for coalition govt

PARIS

FRENCH parties sought to project strength and gather allies on Tuesday, with the government adrift following an election in which no one political force claimed a clear majority. Having defied expectations to top the polls, new MPs from the left-wing New Popular Front (NFP) alliance began showing up to visit their new workplaces in parliament ahead of a first session on July 18. But the coalition of Greens, Socialists, Communists and the hard-left France Unbowed (LFI) is still debating over who to put forward as a potential PM.

Combined, the left-leaning parties' hold 193 of 577 seats in the National Assembly and are well short of the 289-seat threshold for a majority.

Nevertheless, members plan to name a potential prime minister "by the end of the week," leading LFI figure Mathilde Panot said.

In the French system, the president nominates the prime minister, who must be able to survive a confidence vote in parliament – a tricky proposition with three closely-balanced political forces in play.

Any left-leaning government would need "broader support in the National Assembly," influential Socialist MP Boris Vallaud acknowledged in an interview with broadcaster France Inter.

Macron's camp came second in Sunday's vote, taking 164 seats after voters came together to block the far-right National Rally (RN) from power.

This left the anti-immigration, anti-Brussels outfit in third place with 143 MPs.

The president has kept Prime Minister Gabriel Attal's government in place for now, hoping horse-trading in the coming days and weeks could leave an opening for him to reclaim the initiative. AFP

ASIA MATTERS

RISE IN DEATH TOLL FROM LANDSLIDE

The death toll from a landslide near an illegal gold mine on central island of Sulawesi had risen to 23 people, while 35 others are still missing, an official said Tuesday. "As of this afternoon... 23 people died, 66 people survived and 35 people are being searched" for, Gorontalo search and rescue agency official Ida Bagus Nyoman Ngurah Asrama said. The landslide hit a remote village in the Bone Bolango dt of Gorontalo province late Saturday following intense rains. Some victims were miners while others were people who operated stalls near the mine. AFP

INDIAN-ORIGIN MAN JAILED FOR RAPE

An Indian-origin bar owner was sentenced to jail for 13 years and four weeks on Monday and will receive nine strokes of the cane for raping a runaway 17-year-old girl after allowing her to work for him. Raj Kumar Bala, 42, was convicted of a charge each of raping and molesting the victim and pleaded guilty to a third charge of harbouring a runaway under the Children and Young Persons Act, Channel News Asia reported. F&O frenzy: Sebi panel moots 5-6x hike in lot size

Derivatives mkt has more than doubled to ₹500L cr as of Mar 2024

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @Mumbai

THE Sebi-appointed panel on derivatives has suggested a slew of measures to curb the retail investments in the derivatives space, especially by retail investors, by calling for massively hiking the minimum lot size of F&O trades to ₹20-30 lakh from ₹5 lakh now and also capping the options contracts to just weekly, among others.

The recommendations, if implemented by the markets watchdog, will take the fizz out of the derivatives market, which has more than doubled to ₹500 lakh crore as of March 2024, making India the world's largest derivatives market with around 85% of the global volume and of which as much as 95% are on the NSE alone.

The F&O segment has been seeing massive participation from retail investors in recent years, rising by 40% from 65 lakh in FY23 to 96 lakh in FY24. Individual investors in index options rose from a low 2% in FY18 to 41% in FY24, Sebi chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch told reporters after the last board meeting when she also announced the formation of a panel for derivatives with the heads of NSE, BSE, clearing corporations and a few brokerages and mutual funds as the panel members. The panel will look into three dimensions -- market development, investor protection and risk parameters, she said, adding this is over and above the decisions on inclusions or exclusions done.

The panel formation was preceded by repeated warnings from the Sebi and even RBI governor who all feel the massive increase in the F&O volume was being driven by the retail (in index options) is about 41% in FY24, which was just about 2% in FY18, as per Buch, while the total F&O volume was ₹500 trillion pie in FY24, up from ₹210 trillion in FY18.

A Sebi report of last September found that as many as 90% of retail traders in the derivatives space lost to the tune of over ₹1.25 lakh each on average. She had warned last week that a lot of household savings were going into speculation at the last board meeting which decided to constitute an expert group to look into F&O segment, which will submit a report to the secondary market advisory panel.

"Our main recommendations include increasing the lot size from present ₹5 lakh to ₹20 to ₹30 lakh. Another way to curb the frenzy is to limit only one expiry per stock exchange per week instead of the daily now," a member of the Sebi Working Committee on Futures and Options told TNIE, seeking not to be quoted.

Panel to look into mkt development, risk parameters

Sebi chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch told reporters after the last board meeting announced the formation of a panel for derivatives with the heads of NSE, BSE, clearing corporations and a few brokerages and mutual funds as panel members. It will look into three dimensions -- market development, investor protection and risk parameters, she said.

MFs add ₹2.3L cr on mkt rally in Jun

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

DRIVEN by the continuous inflows in to equity funds, especially through SIPs route, overall assets under management (AUM) of mutual fund industry crossed the ₹60 lakh crore (₹60 trillion) milestone and touched ₹61.16 trillion in June, over ₹58.91 trillion in the previous month, on the back of a record 7% rally in the equity market.

As per the industry lobby Association of Mutual Funds (Amfi), this is for the first time that the AUM has risen past the ₹60-trillion mark and was led by the inflows via systematic investment plans rose to ₹21,262 crore in the reporting month as against ₹20,904 crore in April, thus crossing for the first time ₹20,000-crore landmark first.

Equity fund inflows have gone up 83.42% to a record high of ₹34,697 crore in May. Of the total AUM retail AUM at ₹36,32,226 crore for June with an average AUM of ₹35,69,980 crore. Mutual fund folios are at all-time high at 19,10,47,118 in June, of which retail folios (equity, hybrid and solution oriented schemes) at an all-time high at 15,32,56,488 for the month as against 14,89,54,824 in May.

June marks 40 months of positive equity inflows, starting from March 2021. Growth equity fund inflows for June was ₹40,608.19 crore. New SIPs registered in June stood at 55,12,962 and the SIP AUM rose to the highest to ₹12,43,791.71 crore as against ₹11,52,801 crore for May. This had SIP contribution rising to all-time high of ₹21,262.22 crore from ₹20,904.37 crore in May. The number of SIP accounts stood at the highest ever at 8,98,66,962 in June compared to 8,75,89,485 in May.

Inflows into equity funds rose 17% to ₹40,608.19 crore in June, a fresh high. The net inflow into equity funds had surged 83.42% to a record high of ₹34,697 crore a month ago. Despite the optimism over a flooding of dollars into the country after the government bond inclusion into JP Morgan bond index from June 28, debt MF saw net outflows of ₹1,07,357.62 crore during the month and the Amfi chief executive Venkat Nageswar Chalasani dismissed outflow as seasonal typical of every quarter ending.

Cognizant pays ₹4 cr to settle Dalal case

ENS ECONOMI BUREAU @Bengaluru

NASDAQ-listed Cognizant Technology Solutions on Tuesday said it has resolved a lawsuit against its chief financial officer Jatin Dalal filed by his former employer Wipro.

The software company said it approved payment of $505,087 (about ₹4.1 crore) to its CFO, in connection with Dalal's settlement of the lawsuit brought by Wipro. In a US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) filings, Cognizant said, "The settlement was reached without admission of liability by either party. The Company's payment covers Mr. Dalal's settlement payment to Wipro as well as reimbursement of his legal fees."

Wipro sought to obtain damages and injunctive relief arising out of Dalal's purported breach of non-compete and confidentiality obligations under certain of Dalal's compensation agreements with Wipro by joining Cognizant.

In December last year, Wipro filed a suit against its former CFO Jatin Dalal who joined rival Cognizant. The company had initiated legal proceedings in the civil court in Bengaluru, but Dalal requested the court to move the matter to arbitration.

Dalal joined Wipro in 2002 and became CFO of the company in April 2015 and also assumed additional responsibilities as President beginning in December 2019.

ONGC to invest ₹2L cr to achieve net-zero carbon emission by 2038

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

OIL and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) has outlined ambitious plans to achieve net-zero carbon emissions by 2038 through substantial investments totaling about ₹2 lakh crore.

In a detailed 200-page document, the company delineated its road map, which includes significant investments in renewable energy sites, green hydrogen plants, and measures to eliminate gas flaring.

By 2030, ONGC plans to invest ₹97,000 crore to establish 5 gigawatts (GW) of renewable energy capacity, encompassing solar parks, wind turbines, biogas projects, pump storage plants, and offshore wind installations. Another Rs 65,500 crore will be allocated by 2035, primarily for green hydrogen and green ammonia facilities. By 2038, an additional Rs 38,000 crore will be directed towards setting up 1 GW of offshore wind projects.

To mitigate environmental impact, ONGC aims to eliminate gas flaring entirely by 2030, investing ₹5,000 crore in technological advancements. In the base year of 2021-22, the company released 554 million cubic meters of methane into the atmosphere, largely due to incidental oil production or uneconomical quantities for consumer distribution.

The renewable energy initiatives include ₹30,000 crore for 5 GW of solar parks and onshore wind farms, with additional capacities of 1 GW each slated for installation by 2035 and 2038, respectively, costing ₹5,000 crore each.

Digital penetration: 65% of transactions done online in small towns

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

DIGITAL payments have penetrated small towns, as 65% of their transactions are digital, compared to 75% in larger cities.

Kearney India and Amazon Pay India on Tuesday released a report on 'How Urban India Pays', and it says there is a strong correlation between a city's average DDPU (Degree of Digital Payment Usage) and its retail potential.

The top six metros (Mumbai and its suburbs, Delhi and NCR, Kolkata, Chennai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad) displayed both high DDPU and high retail potential. Interestingly, DDPU surpasses retail potential in some cities, such as Lucknow, Patna, Bhopal, Jaipur, Bhubaneswar, Indore, Ahmedabad, and Pune, which have a high DDPU nearly matching that of larger metropolitan cities despite having a lower retail potential than the top six metros.

The report said about 90% of respondents favour digital payments for online purchases, while nearly half (50%) extend this preference to brick-and-mortar stores. UPI, digital wallets, and cards gain widespread traction as cash transactions dwindle, with digital modes making up 69% of merchant transactions; even street vendors cited receiving 46% of their payments digitally, according to the report.

From online purchases to street vendors selling fruits, flowers and everyday items, digital payments make inroads across sectors, driven by convenience cited as the primary motivator by over 60% of respondents, the report highlighted. "With digital transactions penetrating even street vendors and smaller towns, we are at an inflection point," Vikas Bansal, CEO, Amazon Pay India, said. While UPI reigns supreme with 53% of consumers preferring it for online purchases , digital wallets and cards (credit, debit, and prepaid) are preferred by 30% of consumers.

JAPAN

LOGS LARGEST CURRENT ACCOUNT SURPLUS IN MAY

Japan reported a 2.84 trillion yen in current account surplus in May, a rise of 41.8% from a year before and the largest for the month since 1985, Finance Ministry data showed on Monday. The country logged a current account surplus for the 16th straight month. The primary income account rose 13% to 4.21 trillion yen, the largest for any month, thanks to growth in coupon income from foreign bonds, reflecting higher overseas interest rates and a rise in dividend receipts in yen terms due to the weakening of the Japanese currency. The country's goods trade deficit decreased to 1.108 trillion yen from 1.199 trillion yen a year before. Exports rose 12.1% to 8.132 trillion yen, propelled by robust shipments of automobiles and semiconductor-making equipment. The country's imports rose 9.3% to 9.241 trillion yen because of higher crude oil prices. Services trade turned to a surplus of 2.3 billion yen from the year-before deficit of 180.3 billion yen.

TAIWAN

JUNE EXPORTS TOPS FORECASTS

The exports of Taiwan increased more than expected in June, with the island benefiting from its position as a key link in the supply chain of the booming artificial intelligence (AI) industry though also coming off from a low base period. According to the finance ministry, exports rose 23.5% from a year earlier to $39.9 billion. The country's export recovery continued with its eighth consecutive monthly rise, while beating a 3.5% gain in May. The robust performance was thanks to "strong business opportunities in new technology applications" such as AI and high performance computing, the ministry said in a statement. The second half of the year should see a continued uptrend in export momentum as exports enter their peak season, owing to the island's advanced chip production capacity, it added. The ministry predicted that Taiwan's exports in July could rise between 3% and 6% from a year earlier.

SRI LANKA

DEBT RESTRUCTURING: TO WRAP UP TALKS SOON

Sri Lanka Foreign Minister Ali Sabry said on Tuesday the country will wrap up talks with international bondholders on restructuring $12.5 billion in debt within a few weeks , a major step for the island nation to emerge from its worst financial crisis in decades. The country will seek to balance its ties with giant neighbour India and China to ensure that there is no difference in dealing with the two. He said as the rival Asian giants are key creditors and investors but are jostling for geopolitical influence in the small Indian Ocean country. Sri Lanka secured a provisional agreement with some of its bondholders to move forward on restructuring its global bonds last week but now needs the other private creditors and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to agree. It clinched an agreement with its official creditors including Japan, China and India in late June to restructure $10 billion in debt.

Union Budget FY25: Govt may provide incentives for maritime sector

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

IN a bid to give boost to the local manufacturing in the maritime sector, finance ministry is likely to raise basic customs duty (BCD) on certain items in the upcoming budget 2024-25, top sources told The New Indian Express. Custom duty on fishing vessels, tugs and pusher crafts and light vessels may be raised from 5% to 50%.

"The Ministry of Shipping has made a proposal and the Centre may make an announcement in the Budget to be released on July 2024. They have proposed to raise rates on fishing vessels, tugs and pusher crafts and light vessels to 50% for next ten years and thereafter increase it to 100% from the year 10-25," a top governments source stated.

He added that this is in line with the recommendations of Maritime India Vision 2030 (MIV 2030) launched by the Prime Minister in 2021 - wherein detailed deliberations were conducted with shipping ministry and central line ministries, maritime experts, shipbuilding associations and think tanks etc.

For lifeboats, basic customs duty may be imposed at 50% for next 10 years and 100% in 10-25 years. BCD is expected to rise to 50% on barges or pontoons imported along with ships for the next 10 years and thereafter increase it to 100% from the years 10-25. A few months ago, the government had to reverse its decision of imposing import restrictions on laptops due to criticism from the industry and the US.

The Centre may announce production linked incentive scheme for container manufacturing. Implementing a PLI scheme for this will incentivise domestic production by offering financial incentives based on volume and value addition criteria.

This will attract investments from domestic and global manufacturers to set up facilities in India, as per the source.

The Centre may eliminate tax deducted at source (TDS) for Indian seafarers working on Indian flagged vessels operating in coastal waters to level the playing field with foreign-flagged vessels.

The extension of benefits under the Tonnage Tax scheme to Inland Vessels registered under the Inland Vessels Act, 1917, may also be announced to spur investment in the IWT sector.

Tata, Mahindra announces steep discounts on SUVs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

IN its effort to boost sales amid lacking fresh demand, Tata Motors has reduced the price of its popular SUVs – Harrier and Safari -- to give benefits up to ₹1.4 lakh. This comes after the homegrown auto major had reduced prices of its Nexon SUV by ₹1 lakh last month.

"We have revised the starting prices of our flagship SUVs, the Harrier (₹14.99 lakh) and the Safari (₹15.49) and have extended benefits up to ₹1.4 lakh on popular SUV variants. With regards to electric vehicles, never before seen benefits on the Nexon.ev (up to ₹1.3 lakh), have made it the most accessible it has ever been," said Vivek Srivatsa, chief commercial officer, Tata Passenger Electric Mobility.

Carmakers offer discounts due to muted demand

Market experts have attributed steep price cuts and heavy discounts offered by many carmakers to a lack of fresh demand. For example, Tata Motors' June sales fell 8% to 43,524 units. Besides Tata Motors, Mahindra has temporarily cut prices for the top-end AX7 trims of XUV700 by over ₹2 lakh. Mahindra said the prices have been reduced on the occasion of the SUV completing its third year in the market.

Srivatsa added that the Punch.ev too is being offered with a benefit of up to ₹30,000 and the 7 in 7 celebration of the 7 lakh Nexons on road continues on popular demand. Tata Motors said it has introduced the offer as it is celebrating a historic milestone with over 2 million SUVs on Indian roads.

Besides Tata Motors, Mahindra & Mahindra has also temporarily reduced prices for the top-end AX7 trims of the XUV700 by more than ₹2 lakh. Mahindra said the prices have been reduced on the occasion of the SUV completing its third year in the market.

Mahindra XUV700 AX7 now starts at ₹19.49 lakh and goes up ₹24.99 lakh, ex-showroom, Delhi. The special prices are only applicable for a four-month period, said the automaker.

Market experts have attributed steep price cuts and heavy discounts offered by many carmakers to a lack of fresh demand. For example, Tata Motors' June sales fell by 8% to 43,524 units.

AirAsia to bring 'cinematic in-flight' experience for movie-goers in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

LOW-cost carrier AirAsia on Tuesday announced it will bring an innovative 'cinematic in-flight' experience for movie-goers in select cinemas across India, to showcase its destinations as part of the movie-going experience, through a collaboration with Qube Cinema.

According to the airline, the initiative is aimed at inviting travellers from India to discover the hidden gems of Asia, Australia and beyond, through its network that will soon connect 16 cities in India to over 130 global destinations, via Malaysia and Thailand.

The collaboration is aimed at enhancing AirAsia's outreach through more than 130 cinemas across 12 cities over the next six months. Accordingly, movie-goers stand a chance to win AirAsia flights to anywhere across its network. During this period, the airline will also collaborate with over 130 local travel content creators to showcase its destinations, spanning cities, beaches, historic landmarks, and vibrant local cultures.

Meanwhile, through 2024, the airline has actively expanded its network in India, operating 22 direct routes from the country to its two main Asian hubs of Kuala Lumpur and Bangkok, serving a range of Indian cities, including Bengaluru, Ahmedabad, Visakhapatnam, Thiruvananthapuram, Chennai, Tiruchirapalli, and Hyderabad, among others. In the coming weeks, AirAsia plans to add four more routes -- new flights from Guwahati, Kozhikode, and Lucknow to Kuala Lumpur, and Tiruchirapalli to Bangkok.

Elaborating, AirAsia Chief Commercial Officer Paul Carroll said, "Since early 2024, we have expanded our network in India with 10 additional routes, bringing the total to 26 routes from India to Malaysia and Thailand. Operating over 20 daily flights across 16 cities, AirAsia counts as one of the top airlines with the highest number of weekly flights to and from India."

Midfielder Alcantara hangs up his boots

Spanish international midfielder Thiago Alcantara announced his retirement on Monday at the age of 33, through a message on his social networks. "Thank you, football. And to all who accompanied me and made me a better player and person along the way," he wrote on X. Liverpool released Thiago when his contract expired at the end of last season.

NETHERLANDS' WILDCARD

Striker Wout Weghorst has been the answer for Dutch manager Koeman when Plan A has failed to deliver in ongoing Euros

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

ONE of football's most basic attacking ideals involves 'giving it to the big man up top'. While a few countries are moving away from the genre, a few nations still use this tactic as an effective Plan B. Within the contours of all elite European football nations, one country's Plan B appears to be one of the best going around.

Netherlands and Wout Weghorst. The Dutch, aiming to reach a first European Championship final since they won the whole thing in 1988, have a fairly uniform look when they begin proceedings. Memphis Depay plays as the furthest attacker with Cody Gakpo on his left, Xavi Simons immediately behind him and Steven Bergwijn to his right.

If this doesn't work, Netherlands' first port of call is usually Weghorst. Ronald Koeman has already pressed this button twice. Before him, Louis van Gaal used to do the same thing — the former Manchester United manager pressed the forward into service and he changed the complexion of a meandering quarterfinal against Argentina at the 2022 World Cup. Depay likes to roam and he anyway isn't that much of a presence. That means the likes of Gakpo, Bergwijn and rapid Denzel Dumfries do not necessarily fling crosses into the box.

As and when Weghorst enters, there is a different dimension to the attack because he's a bigger presence in the box. He occupies defenders, can play with his back to goal and is adept at diverting the ball goalwards with his head.

You needn't go all that back to see how he can positively affect matches. In the quarterfinal against Turkiye, Weghorst was summoned from the bench after a slightly meh first half.

The line of attack immediately changed, crosses were frequent and Turkiye finally cracked under pressure. One Weghorst goalbound header was parried behind for a corner. From the resultant set-piece, Stefan de Vrij powered home to equalise.

"We started quite well but it changed after 20 minutes, (then) they were dominating," Koeman had pointed out after the game against Turkiye.

"Then it was clear for me to make this substitution with Wout, with Cody on the wing and Denzel on the right, we had to have a lot more crosses than in the first half." "It's different (with him on)... in this game when we wanted to play a little bit more opportunistically, then you can bring Wout because he's tall, he's good in the air, he fights for every ball that comes in the box," Gakpo had told reporters.

Defender Nathan Ake sang from the same hymn sheet. "Because of (Weghorst) you create a little bit more chaos in the box and they have to defend more, so I think Wout helped a lot. "He's a nightmare to play against. He is strong, is a nuisance in a box and he fights for everything. He runs off everything. So for us he is a great asset."

Adding a subtext is his less than successful time in England. After a less than impressive time with Burnley, he even joined Manchester United on loan but endured a difficult spell where he went goalless across 17 games in the Premier League. That, though, will be forgotten if he can shapeshift another match.

Talking points

Netherlands seek a first final in over 35 years while England aim for consecutive appearances in the summit clash for the first time in their history. A look at some of the battles...

VAN DIJK VS KANE

Harry Kane has looked like a shadow of his former self but has still scored two goals. He has seemed to occupy the same spaces as some of his other colleagues and it's the reason why England's attacks have not gone anywhere. But he will still have to be watched and that task will fall on the Dutch captain, Virgil van Dijk. Both of them know each other an awful lot and the winner of this battle could have a decisive say in the final outcome.

1988
NETHERLANDS' LAST APPEARANCE IN THE FINAL OF THE EUROS (THEY WON THE EDITION)

TWO CONTRASTING MIDFIELDS

While England's midfield has looked a bit passive, the Dutch have been far more proactive. Tijani Reijnders has not put a foot wrong while the dribbling abilities of Xavi Simons from the middle has caused multiple teams a headache or two. While Kobbie Mainoo has had a sensational start to his England career, this could be the game when his inexperience tells.

Netherlands: Verbruggen (1), Dumfries(22), De Vrij(6), Van Dijk(4), Ake(5), Schouten(24), Rejinders(14), Simons(7), Bergwijn(25), Gakpo(11), Depay(10).

England: Pickford (1), Walker (2), Stones(5), Guehi(6), Saka(7), Mainoo (26), Rice (4), Trippier (12), Foden (11), Bellingham(10), Kane(9).

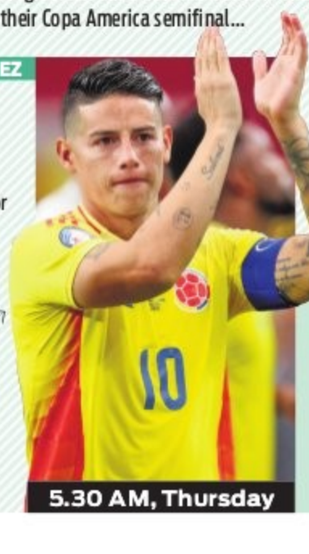
THRILLING CONTEST ON THE CARDS

James Rodriguez has rolled back the clock for a purring Colombia while Uruguay came through a tough Brazil test. A look at some of the battles ahead of their Copa America semifinal...

UGARTE VS RODRIGUEZ

It's no surprise to see PSG's Manuel Ugarte being linked to Man United. The midfielder has been the engine for Marcelo Bielsa's side with his all-action gameplay. He may well have to keep an eye on James Rodriguez who has been Colombia's leader-in-chief. He has occupied the right half-space and inspired the team.



5.30 AM, Thursday

Colombia: Vargas(12), Munoz(21), Sanchez(23), Cuesta(2), Mojica(17), Rios(6), Lerma(16), Arias(11), Rodriguez(10), Diaz(7), Cordoba(24).

Uruguay: Rochet (1), Varela(13), Gimenez(2), Olivera(16), Vina(17), Ugarte(5), Valverde(15), Pellistri(11), De La Cruz(7), Araujo(20), Nunez(19).

NUNEZ VS COLOMBIA BACKLINE

Darwin Nunez has blown hot and cold so far but he could be a big point of difference in this match. Having scored twice already in this edition, he's bang in form. The Colombia, defence, however will know what to expect. They have also been miserly, having only let in two goals in four games.

Medvedev overcomes top-ranked Sinner, to take on Alcaraz in semis

AGENCIES @London

DANIIL Medvedev defeated World No 1 Jannik Sinner in five sets on Tuesday to reach a second successive Wimbledon semifinal, subduing the gallant challenge of the Italian, who suffered a worrying mid-match health scare. The fifth-ranked Medvedev triumphed 6-7 (7), 6-4, 7-6 (4), 2-6, 6-3 to avenge his Australian Open final loss to Sinner in January.

His four-hour victory also ended a five-match losing streak against the Italian as Medvedev reached his ninth Grand Slam semifinal.

The 28-year-old former US Open winner will face defending champion Carlos Alcaraz for a place in Sunday's final.

Alcaraz lost the first set to Tommy Paul but recalibrated to win 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

French Open finalist Jasmine Paolini wasted little time in advancing to her maiden Wimbledon last four. She handed Emma Navarro a beatdown, beating her 6-2, 6-1.

Novak blasts 'hostile' fans

Novak Djokovic accused fans of "disrespect" in a withering on-court tirade after reaching a 60th Grand Slam quarterfinal and 15th at the All England Club on Monday. Djokovic, the seven-time champion at Wimbledon and chasing a record-setting 25th Major, defeated Holger Rune 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Djokovic then launched an angry outburst at a section of Centre Court fans who constantly chanted "Rune" throughout the match and which the Serb took to be booing. "To all the fans that have had respect and stayed here tonight, I thank you from the bottom of my heart and I appreciate it," said an angry Djokovic. "And to all those people that have chosen to disrespect the player — in this case me — have a goooooooood night," he added, mocking his tormentors' exaggerated "Ruuuuune".

Results (Quarters): Men: Daniil Medvedev (RUS x5) bt Jannik Sinner (ITA x1) 6-7 (7), 6-4, 7-6 (4), 2-6, 6-3; Carlos Alcaraz (ESP x3) bt Tommy Paul (USA x12) 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2. Women: Donna Vekic (CRO) bt Lulu Sun (NZL) 5-7, 6-4, 6-1. Round 4 (Monday): Novak Djokovic (SRB x2) bt Holger Rune (DEN x15) 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Lulu's fairytale run ends

LONDON: Donna Vekic shrugged off a service meltdown to reach the semifinals and end the fairytale run of New Zealand qualifier Lulu Sun. The Croatian, ranked 37th in the world, came back from a set down to win 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 and reach the last four at a Grand Slam for the first time. Sun, ranked 123rd in the world, drew first blood, breaking in the 11th game and serving out for the first set. Vekic battled her way back, but her serve fell apart as she served for the second set at 5-3, producing five double faults. The Croatian immediately regrouped and broke Vekic in the next game to take the set 6-4.

Bolstered India seek lead

With the five-match series locked at 1-1, a win here can give a psychological edge to either of the teams. India will be favourites with the arrival of three players, who were part of the victorious T20 World Cup campaign. A look...

PROBLEM OF PLENTY

Arrival of Yashasvi Jaiswal, Sanju Samson and Shivam Dube will give skipper Shubman Gill a tough time to choose his playing XI. He may have to rejig the winning combination with one from the three (Jaiswal, Gill and Abhishek Sharma) batting one down and B Sai Sudharsan, who was selected for the first two matches, making way for Rajasthan Royals opener.

EXTRA BOUNCE

Indian spinners Ravi Bishnoi and Washington Sundar have made the best of conditions at the Harare Sports Club. The extra bounce means, the duo has been unplayable at times. India's Ruturaj Gaikwad admitted the double-paced wicket has troubled batters in the beginning with the highest opening partnership being 10 in the first two matches.

RAZA'S INDIFFERENT FORM

Zimbabwe skipper Sikandar Raza has looked off colour with the bat so far. With experienced seniors like Sean Williams and Craig Ervine left out of the series, the captain needs to hold fort at one end to make sure other batters come good.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

More learnings ahead of T20 World Cup for Kaur & Co

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

IN the ODI series that started the multi-format contest between India and South Africa, the hosts had everything going for them. Runs on the board in the first two ODIs, with bowlers being tested under pressure in Bengaluru made for an interesting watch. However, not much was there to conclude. The ODI World Cup is still a year out and India have already qualified as hosts. The Test match that started proceedings in Chennai lacked context in a bigger sense. So when the T20I series commenced on July 5, eyes were on both squads as this was one of their final chances to nail their plans in conditions close to Bangladesh.

And India wrapped up the series with a dominant 10-wicket win which helped them draw the series 1-1 (the second match was abandoned midway).

In the first T20I, India went conservative with the tried and tested playing XI from the final ODI in Bengaluru. Bowling first, a below-par performance saw the Indian bowlers go for plenty; other than Pooja Vastrakar, the others conceded close to 40 runs.

India allowed the struggling Tazmin Brits to make a comeback, while they were clueless against Marizane Kapp, who is looking more and more settled in her new batting role at number three. One of the biggest disappointments as admitted by the group was the shoddy fielding that not only cost them wickets but gave a lifeline to settled batters on as many as five occasions.

One of the things that did go India's way was the return of Jemimah Rodrigues in the shortest format. Batting at five, after India lost wickets in quick succession, Rodrigues, coming out of a back injury break, held her own to score a half-century while striking at 176. There was power, smart batting and an overall understanding of her strengths in the knock. The right-handed batter did what was expected of her at the batting position most suited for her despite India losing in the final over.

India were forced to make changes in the second T20I, but their fate with the ball did not change. Brits had a reprieve early, and Anneke Bosch made the most of her chances to take South Africa to 177 in the second T20I. Even though India did not get a chance to bat, every bowler, other than Deepti Sharma this time, struggled to make an impact. Another learning curve from the T20I series was how well Harmanpreet Kaur used her bowlers in the middle overs to minimise the pressure of powerplay.

Like Rodrigues in the first T20I, Sharma was the star for India in the second fixture. She showed why she is one of the most important bowlers for India in the conditions. Her slower outside off and shorter in length delivery dismissed Brits who had already made an impact against India.

The third T20I was the perfect game India were hoping for ahead of the team's departure for the Asia Cup in Sri Lanka. On the same pitch used for the two previous T20Is, Kaur won the toss and opted to bowl first for the third time in a row. South Africa did start in a similar manner but Arundhati Reddy and Shreyanka Patil were a point of difference. Reddy created the pressure with her first over giving away just two runs. Patil enticed opposition captain Laura Wolvaardt to come down the ground for an expansive shot, but she only managed to find Reddy. Vastrakar was spot on with her lengths and had immense control over her lines throughout her spell to help restrict South Africa to below 100. With Kapp and Wolvaardt gone in the powerplay, South Africa never really had a chance to post a big score. With India's explosive openers, it did not them long to chase down the total with 10 wickets still in hand.

There are a few questions to be answered before the team goes to the World Cup. This might be their best chance to add the first silverware to the cabinet. But for now, India are primed to go into the Asia Cup as the favorites to retain their title.

Brief scores: 84 in 17.1 ovs (Vastrakar 4/13, Radha 3/6) lost to India: 88/0 in 10.5 ovs (Shafali 27 n.o, Smriti 54 n.o).

Nothing has such power to broaden the mind as the ability to investigate systematically and truly all that comes under thy observation in life – Marcus Aurelius

THE GUT IS CONSIDERED THE BRAIN'S ASSISTANT, AND HELPS THE LATTER RESPOND TO THOUGHT AND FEELING STIMULI, THROUGH THE GUT-BRAIN AXIS. AN ESSENTIAL PART OF THE BODY, THE GUT UNDERSTANDS OUR EVERY NEED

THAT GUT FEELING

SONIA SALI

THE pit feeling, butterflies in the stomach, intuition, instinct, gut feeling – we all have been there when we felt our tummies churn and growl, forcing our brains to jump into decisions without considering all the facts. But how is the gut called to make decisions, when the brain is supposed to regulate the body and resolve problems, without getting help from any other source? Although the brain is the most complex organ in the human body, being responsible for all kinds of decisions, the gut is more like its assistant that helps it in good measure.

It was in 1998 when Dr Michael D Gershon, the father of neurogastroenterology, in his book 'Second Brain', mentioned the functioning of the gut and its many nerve cells that influence the workings of the intestine, without being controlled by the brain. Dr Gershon said that these multiple neurons can help us feel the inner world of the gut and its contents. Hidden on the walls of the digestive system, this brain in the gut links mood, digestion, health and the way one thinks and feels.

The second brain

The gut's Enteric Nervous System (ENS) is at times called the human body's 'second brain', since it has a network of neurons that are like the brain in the skull. The ENS is made of two thin layers composed of over 100 million nerve cells that line the gastrointestinal tract from the oesophagus to the rectum. These million neurons are connected to the brain through the nerves in our nervous system, thus constantly communicating with each other using similar chemicals and cells to help with digestion and alert the brain when something is wrong.

On the other hand, the gut-brain axis is a bidirectional communication that links the enteric and central nervous systems. While this network is not merely anatomical, it includes humoral, metabolic, endocrine and immune routes of communication. This axis, the autonomic nervous system and the hypothalamic pituitary adrenal (HPA), along with other nerves, inside the gastrointestinal tract, connect the gut and the brain, thus permitting the brain to control intestinal activities and the gut to influence cognition, mood and mental health.

Gut microbiome

The human gut is an ecosystem that is home to millions of microorganisms, bacteria, parasites, fungi and viruses. This ecosystem is called the gut microbiome and differs from person to person based on lifestyle, diet and other environmental factors. The gut microbiome is like a garden that you depend on for nutrition and health. When the garden is thriving, you remain healthy, but when it is polluted and dying, it can affect your entire ecosystem. Similarly, the gut microbiome plays an important role in the overall health of an individual. Besides providing nutrition, its communication with the brain helps the entire system stay put. The gut microbiome and the brain are connected through the gut-brain axis, which is a network of neurons, proteins and chemicals that transmit messages between the digestive system and the brain.

The vagus nerve, a major nerve connecting the gut and the brain, transmits signals between these two regions of the body. Besides, the gut and the brain are also connected through neurotransmitters that are produced in the brain to control feelings and emotions. However, researchers have also discovered that many of these neurotransmitters are also largely produced by the gut cells and the microbes living there.

The health of your gastrointestinal tract (GI) directly affects the brain chemistry and mood. The state of the microbiome can even increase or decrease your depression and anxiety. While researchers for long believed it was the other way around, exploring deeper into the mind-gut relationship revealed that there's an increased risk of depression and anxiety when the gut is at risk. A large portion of gamma aminobutyric acid (GABA), which helps individuals control feelings of fear and anxiety are produced by the microbes in the gut. Studies show that when the gut increases its production of GABA, it reduces anxiety and depression, thus stabilising the individual. GABA can help quieten circuits in the brain that are responsible for anxiety.

The brain sends messages all over the body and the gut is believed to talk back. Studies reveal that the balance of the bacteria in the gut microbiome can affect emotions and the way the brain processes information from sights, sounds, senses, flavours and textures. Therefore, an imbalance can play a vital role in anxiety, depression, eating disorders, chronic pain and autism. They also produce compounds that the human body is otherwise incapable of manufacturing on its own. A troubled intestine sends signals to the brain, like the troubled brain that sends signals to the gut. This proves that an individuals' stomach can be the reason for anxiety, stress or depression and that the brain and the gastrointestinal tract are closely connected.

One of the strongest links in the body is the gut-brain axis. This also acts as a biochemical connection between the nervous system and the GI tract. Two hormones — ghrelin and serotonin are the drivers of this connection. While ghrelin sends signals to the brain if you are full or not, the serotonin acts as the mood stabiliser. The disruptions of any of these hormones can cause GI symptoms like nausea and diarrhoea and can eventually lead to irritable bowel syndrome (IBS). Studies also reveal that good gut health can reduce inflammation in the body, so that there is less stress on the heart and lowered risk of erythrocytosis, which can impact the kidneys. Besides, proper digestion ensures a steady supply of nutrients like Omega-3 fatty acids, B vitamins, and antioxidants, which are crucial for brain health and cognitive function. The gut microbiome can also influence cognitive functions and may play a role in conditions like autism and Alzheimer's disease.

Better gut for better life

From the light of the above, it is evident that the gut plays an important role in the functioning of the body, as much as the brain's regulation of the organs in the human body. The connection between the two, highlights the fact that a better gut is the only way to a healthier mind and body. It is even considered as the 'centre of overall health'.

The gut contains a host of both good and bad bacteria that make up the microbiome. They can accordingly set in the process of dysbiosis, which is the imbalance in bacterial composition, changes in bacterial metabolic activities, or changes in bacterial distribution within the gut. The three types of dysbiosis are: Loss of beneficial bacteria, overgrowth of potentially pathogenic bacteria, and loss of overall bacterial diversity. While the bad bacteria in the gut triggers diseases and promotes ageing, the good bacteria help with digestion, absorption of nutrients and fighting against bad bacteria. Therefore, to ward off the bad bacteria, probiotics are consumed. They are live microorganisms, similar to the good bacteria in the gut. They have multiple health benefits and can add to the existing number of bacteria in the intestinal tract to keep everything in balance. They help the immune system become stronger, while also boosting gastrointestinal health. Few probiotics also help ease allergies and help with lactose intolerance.

Therefore, a strong, healthy gut creates a healthier communication with the brain. As researchers call the gut, the 'friend with benefits', there has never been a time when the brain existed without receiving signals from the microbes in the gut owing to its multifaceted and symbiotic relationship with the rest of the body, particularly in terms of health and well-being.

MAGICAL HYDRATES

CO_2 CAPTURE JUST BECAME FASTER AND SIMPLER

There's hope now for carbon to be captured and sequestered at a faster rate to mitigate the impact of climate change. Researchers from University of Texas at Austin have developed a new method for carbon sequestration, which is many times faster, and without using harmful chemical accelerants that are otherwise used in currently used processes. The researchers developed a process that involves formation of carbon dioxide hydrates, the ice-like materials which can sequester carbon dioxide and bury it in the oceans while preventing its escape back into the atmosphere, contributing to climate change. The process is found to be six times faster than the prevailing methods used currently to trap carbon dioxide. The speed combined with the chemical-free process make it easier to use these hydrates for mass-scale carbon storage. Carbon capture and sequestration extracts carbon out of the atmosphere and stores it permanently — considered a crucial part to decarbonizing Earth. Currently, the commonly used method injects carbon dioxide into underground reservoirs, which offers a dual benefit of trapping carbon and also increasing oil production. But the process can lead to leakage of carbon dioxide that could contaminate groundwater, besides seismic risks involved with injection. Hydrates were always looked upon as a 'plan B', but the advantages brought in by the new method discovered by the UTA researchers, offered an opportunity to make it 'plan A' as the current methods have their own disadvantages besides being energy-intensive.

BEHIND THE SCIENCE

FRITZ ZWICKY

GARGI DESHPANDE

Fritz Zwicky was a bold and visionary scientist ahead of his time. He conceived supernovae, neutron stars, dark matter, and gravitational lenses. In addition to his brilliant insights, he also entertained notions that were considered merely eccentric. Zwicky was born in Bulgaria to Swiss parents. He became fascinated with cosmic rays — the high energy subatomic particles that shoot through space at nearly the speed of light. No one could suggest a plausible candidate for the source of the mysterious particles. Then Zwicky made an astonishing conceptual leap. He decided that cosmic rays are produced in catastrophic explosions of massive stars. No one had previously imagined such a phenomenon. In a 1931, Zwicky introduced the term "supernova" to distinguish the explosion of an entire star from the more common 'nova'. Later, he worked with German-American astronomer Walter Baade, on the idea of supernova. Baade, who knew of several historical accounts of new stars that had appeared as bright objects, before fading from view, then concluded that such events must be supernova explosions in our own Galaxy. The two of them then advanced three new ideas: (1) Massive stars end their lives in stupendous explosions, which blow them apart; (2) Such explosions produce cosmic rays; and (3) They leave behind a collapsed star made of densely packed neutrons. Zwicky reasoned that the violent collapse and explosion of a massive star would leave a dense ball of neutrons, formed by the crushing together of protons and electrons. Such an object, which he called a "neutron star". This bizarre idea was met with great skepticism, as neutrons had only been discovered the year before. Later on, Zwicky discovered that most of the mass in the universe is invisible, and called it "dark matter," and thought of another way to investigate the dark matter. In 1979, five years after Zwicky died, the first of many gravitational lenses was discovered. The lensing effect is now used to measure the cosmological parameters of the universe, and to reveal distant objects otherwise too faint to see, supporting his theories of Neutron star and Dark Matter.

Biodegradable bioplastics from food waste

BLACKSBURG (US): Extraordinary amounts of energy, water, and capital are put into food systems. However, 30-40% of the food that is produced ends up in landfills in the US. What if there was a way to convert it into something we use every day? Researchers in Virginia Tech's College of Agriculture and Life Sciences are doing just that by developing biodegradable bioplastics from food waste to give those materials a new useful life. "By creating cost-effective bioplastics that naturally decompose, we can reduce plastic pollution and address greenhouse gas emissions," says lead researcher Zhiwu Wang.

HOW IT WORKS

3D PRINTING: A MULTI-DIMENSIONAL LOOK AT DESIGN

GARGI DESHPANDE

THIS is a technology that has revolutionised industrial design on a massive scale, while cutting costs in a sustainable way. Three-dimensional, or 3D printers have become a staple in many sectors, including education, medicine, architecture, aerospace, automotive, and culinary, as well as an alternative to environmentally hazardous materials. 3D printers are used for rapid prototyping, to create physical prototypes of designs, which helps test the aesthetics and functionality of any product, before mass production. 3D printers are used to create intricate sculptures, decorative items, and artistic installations, among many other things that would otherwise be difficult or impossible to produce with traditional methods.

In 1981, Japan's Hideo Kodama filed the first patent for a machine that leveraged UV light for curing photopolymers. However, the technology had not garnered much interest when it was first introduced. Three years later, French inventors Olivier de Witte, Jean Claude André, and Alain Le Mehaute jointly filed a patent for a similar technology. Both patents were abandoned, with US' General Electric saying the 'latter lacked notable business potential'. In 1984, American inventor Charles Hull filed a patent for an 'Apparatus for Production of Three-Dimensional Objects by Stereolithography'. Three years later, he invented the STL file and founded 3D systems. By the 2000s, 3D printing became immensely popular.

3D printing is also known as additive manufacturing. It is a process in which a file is used to create a three-dimensional solid object. In this process, the 3D printer prints layers of material sequentially, until the object is printed completed. The objects are created in an additive process, where the printer places layer after layer of material until the desired object is printed. Each layer is considered a thin cross-section of the printed item. With 3D printing, complicated shapes can be printed using lesser material, compared to traditional manufacturing methods.

The operation style of 3D printing is the opposite of 'subtractive manufacturing', where the material is cut out or hollowed. Additive manufacturing does not need a mold or material block to create objects. Instead, the printer stacks layers of material and fuses them together. 3D printing offers swift creation of objects with complicated geometries, something traditional manufacturing solutions might not be capable of as efficiently.

3D printing is at least 10 times faster, and five times cheaper than traditional methods. They are small, reliable, and easy to use. It is why 3D printers are becoming popular by the day, not just in the manufacturing industry, but in other industries and for hobbyists as well.

'LIVE'ING & LOVING IT

A fan cosplaying as celebrated singer Elvis Presley during the England vs Switzerland match on July 6

With the finals set for this Sunday, the Euro Cup 2024 fever has gripped the city as many Bengalureans share their experiences of having their dream football moment from the stands and the electrifying atmosphere they have been a part of

MONIKA MONALISA

VARUN Mundkur, currently somewhere in Germany, is living every football fan's dream of watching the Euro Cup 2024 games live from the stadium. The experience is thrilling for sure, more so because it's a solo trip and a spontaneous decision. The first match he went for was Spain vs Germany, followed by England vs Switzerland in the quarter-final. Mundkur recalls not being sure about going on a trip like this even though some of his friends had already planned it. It was when he found various websites reselling tickets that he made the decision. "Usually the match tickets are sold out. But there are marketplaces where these tickets are resold. It was all worth it to get that live experience," says Mundkur, a self-employed stock market trader.

He further mentions that tickets range from €150 to €600 depending on the seat category and match, but one has to pay a 2x premium to buy them from these marketplaces. "Getting a finals ticket, which is happening on July 14, would be a jackpot, but even if I don't, I am happy with all the matches I got to watch," says Mundkur, speaking to CE from Munich, where he watched Spain vs France semi-finals.

It was a dream come true for Arul Oli Thangaraj, who works for the FMCG industry when he planned his trip to Europe for The Netherlands vs Austria. Thangaraj says, "I was supporting The Netherlands but Austria played amazingly well to beat the Dutch, although the Dutch went through to the knockouts. The experience was once in a lifetime, the electrifying atmosphere at the stadium was simply mind-blowing." Having been planning this trip for more than six months, Thangaraj says he extended the trip by visiting other countries in Europe. "Other than Germany, I travelled to Luxembourg and The Netherlands for a week...Watching the games at the 'fan zone' in other cities was also a different experience," says Thangaraj.

Not just the teams, but many wanted to see their favourite player in action. Arun Kumar Ganesan,a marketing professional, wanted to see French footballer Kylian Mbappe in action. "I went to watch France vs The Netherlands at the Leipzig Red Bull Arena. But I missed seeing Mbappe play as he had gotten injured in the previous match," says Ganesan. He adds, "Being European heavyweights, I expected the support to be even. But the city was a sea of orange (supporting The Netherlands). There were a few French supporters but they were easily overrun by the Holland supporters."

For some, the Euro Cup experience was not limited to the love for the sport but also had a romantic touch to it. Entrepreneur Abhijith R Priyan took his wife for an anniversary date to watch the match between Spain vs Croatia in Berlin. He says, "Everywhere you go in Germany, people are talking about the Euro Cup. The hype was more in the fan zones and metro stations where trains were running full and everyone was singing. At the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin, there was a super fan park setup and we missed meeting legends like the Brazilian former footballer Kaka by minutes. I only wish Indian football would rise to such levels and we would be able to experience the same for an AFC Asian Cup game soon."

'WhatsApp university's' misinformation

Explore the dynamics of trust & factual inaccuracies in the age of social media with this game, a fusion of theatre and tabletop gaming experience

DESE GOWDA

IN recent years, even the slightest effort in spreading misinformation can achieve a level of virality that most musicians can only dream of for their songs. It's been nearly a decade since the term 'post-truth' entered the popular lexicon, defining an era where emotions and personal beliefs often overshadow objectivity and facts. This week, a tabletop gaming experience titled Trust Me, It's a Forward!, inspired by aspects of theatre, offers Bengalureans a chance to dive deep into the murky waters of trust in a world where the very tenets of trust and truth seem increasingly under siege.

A collaboration between KathaSiyah and Studio Oleomingus, directed by city-based theatre personality Karen D'Mello, Trust Me, It's a Forward! is an immersive tabletop role-playing game that invites participants to explore the changing nature of trust in the age of social media. "Our objective was to create a space for collective engagement, allowing participants to reflect on the digital age's challenges, such as information overload and misinformation. We wanted to create a space for people to engage with these systems, even if it's not part of their professional work, and reflect on their experiences," shares D'Mello. "Many people are researching misinformation and disinformation, but we wanted to address how everyday people navigate the vast amount of information and social media content. The game creates a simulation that enables discussions about misinformation, disinformation, and propaganda in a fun and non-prescriptive way, acknowledging and validating participants' experiences."

Players are drawn into a narrative set in a sci-fi-inspired underwater world, where they belong to different factions facing various crises. The game's structure allows participants to make decisions that reflect their faction's values, prompting them to question their beliefs and biases. "The game is a simulation that explores how we align with information, especially in a post-truth era. It challenges players to consider their beliefs and values when making decisions," D'Mello explains.

Props used during a playthrough

Trust Me, It's a Forward! blends game design with theatrical elements, ensuring that performance plays a significant role. D'Mello elaborates, "The game is rooted in tabletop role-playing mechanics, but because we are theatre makers, performance is a significant influence. We consider audience engagement, lighting, setting, costumes, and performance, similar to theatre. The Game Master, for instance, is not just a game facilitator but also an actor performing a role."

The next session of Trust Me, It's a Forward! will be held on July 13, 11am and 4pm at Goethe-Institut/Max Mueller Bhavan Bangalore, Indiranagar. More details at www.goethe.de

One of the most crucial aspects of the game is its deliberate design to be participatory rather than prescriptive. "Players engage with the game without being explicitly told what to do, allowing them to make their own decisions within the game's framework. The rules provide a structure, but how players choose to engage with them is up to them," D'Mello says. "We've had a few people play it twice, and it's been interesting to observe that, even though they played the same game, the experience was very different each time depending on the group." This format ensures collective reflection without imposing moralistic or punitive messages.

1 Some of the iconic pillars in Bengaluru are the markers of city history. A prominent one is the 20-foot memorial stone pillar, today standing within a traffic island near Mysore Sandal Soap factory. It was installed at the western end of Bengaluru, marking the beginning of an industrial suburb, and was inaugurated by the Maharaja of Mysore Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar on July 3, 1949. Name the area which was named after C Rajagopalachari, the first non-British Governor-General of India.

2 Ashoka Pillar, another iconic pillar that marked the southern end of Bengaluru and the birth of one of the largest planned layouts in India, perhaps in Asia, was inaugurated by C Rajagopalachari, the then Governor-General of India on August 20, 1948. It also marked the 8th year of the rule of Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, the Maharaja of Mysore, and the new extension was named after him. Name the extension. JC Nagar or Jayanagar?

3 Among the vandalised historic structures of Bengaluru, a 35-foot tall monument pillar that stood at the entrance of the Halasuru Gate – a prominent gateway of Bengaluru fort that Kempegowda built – stands on top in the list. The pillar was built in memory of 50-odd soldiers (both British and Indians) who died in the 1791 Siege of Bangalore and other Anglo-Mysore wars. Name this historic pillar which was demolished completely with an official sanction on October 28, 1964. Sappers Memorial or the Cenotaph?

How to plan a trip to northeast India?

The northeast of India is the biggest potpourri of cultures you will find within India. The ideal way to experience the region is to visit the places in short spells over a period of time.

The month of travel matters: The month of your travel determines the areas you can visit, as weather conditions play a vital role. The higher regions of the Himalayas are challenging from December to February. The Brahmaputra River floods the plains during monsoons. However, Meghalaya is beautiful during the monsoons.

Zone in on your interests: The region offers many experiences, and it's important to know what interests you. High-altitude hikes and snow? Arunachal Pradesh and Sikkim. Tribal culture? Nagaland, Mizoram, and Arunachal Pradesh. Food? Nagaland, Assam, and Manipur. Scenic road trips? Meghalaya, Arunachal Pradesh, and Sikkim. WWII history? Nagaland and Manipur.

Get your permits: You will need special permits to enter some regions in Sikkim, Arunachal Pradesh, Nagaland, Manipur, and Mizoram. Local travel agents can help you get these permits, and all permits are very reasonably priced.

Avail local services: Employing local services such as travel guides and taxis benefits the local economy and will enrich your experience.

Pack carefully: Plan your packing based on your route, travel time, and stay duration.

TADA KAPOTASANA

(STANDING PIGEON POSE)

This is a basic beginner-level yoga pose. In Sanskrit, 'kapota' means pigeon and 'asana' means yoga pose. In this pose, the student stands firm on one leg, the other leg is folded, and one foot is placed on the knee of the standing leg. Here, the palms are aligned at the centre in Namaskar Mudra Close Up (Anjali Mudra Close Up).

STEPS

- Stand in Pranamasana (Mountain Pose Namaste).
- Take a couple of breaths and roll your shoulders back and forth to create flexibility.
- Align your body and stand with your spine erect and your shoulders relaxed.
- Keep your legs grounded and your feet neatly placed near each other.
- Keep your legs straight and your palms aligned in Namaskar Mudra Close Up (Anjali Mudra Close Up).
- Inhale and firmly ground all four corners of the left foot on the mat. Lift the right leg and place the right foot on the left knee.
- Be conscious, breathe calmly, and try to maintain balance. The firm grounding of all four corners of the left foot will assist in balancing.
- Look at one focal point to maintain balance.
- Stay here as long as you can. Release the pose, come back to Pranamasana, and then take a couple of breaths.
- Repeat the same with the right leg kept grounded on the mat and the left foot on the right knee.
- Stay in this pose as per your capacity.
- Finally release the pose and relax in Dirga Pranayama Tadasana (Three-Part Breath Mountain Pose).

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the knees, legs, and ankles.
- Tones the lower limbs.
- It is a moderate hip opener.
- Helps enhance the flexibility and stability of the pelvis.
- Strengthens the lower back.
- Enhances the agility and range of motion of the engaged joints and the muscles.
- Enhanced focus helps in practicing other challenging balancing poses.
- Aids in increasing focus and concentration.
- Advanced practitioners can close their eyes to assess their body balance.
- Aids with posture correction.
- Can be done by pregnant women, postnatal women, kids, and teens.
- This moderate hip opener is good for pregnant women, and the mild hip opening helps with easy childbirth.
- It's a slow and steady process of hip opening.
- Senior citizens can practise this pose to maintain balance.
- This pose can be used for postnatal treatment too.

LIMITATIONS

- Students with ankle and knee injuries and surgeries, migraine, HBP, vertigo, osteoporosis, or rheumatoid arthritis in the knees should avoid this.
- Practitioners with weak ankles and knees can do the pose with wall support.

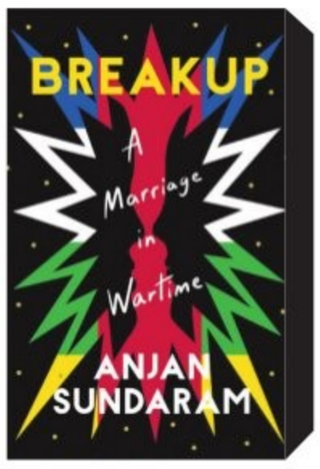
CLASSICAL RENDITIONS

Akhil VK's evocative watercolour painting captures the essence of a Kathakali performance, depicting Ravana in the 'Thoranayudham Aattakatha'

Renowned war correspondent Anjan Sundaram – who was recently in Bengaluru – on his latest book, a deeply intimate account of the profound personal toll exacted by his relentless pursuit of truth in conflict zones...

DESE GOWDA



KNOT TOGETHER

War reporting has always had a certain allure in the public consciousness. Pop culture – from actor Jennifer Connelly in the acclaimed thriller Blood Diamond to Kirsten Dunst in the latest Hollywood blockbuster Civil War – has often romanticised the profession, portraying correspondents as either courageous heroes risking their lives to tell vital stories or as reckless individuals obsessed with getting the story at any cost. But reality tends to be quite different. "It's a lot of tedium, and uncertainty. That experience of waiting, almost boredom, punctuated by episodes of high tension and emotion," says author, academic and journalist Anjan Sundaram, known for his in-depth and often dangerous reporting from some of the world's most challenging and lesser-known conflict zones.

Despite the romanticism, the toll of war reporting extends beyond physical danger. It permeates the personal lives of correspondents, often leading to strained relationships and psychological trauma. Sundaram's latest book, Breakup: A Marriage in Wartime (Simon & Schuster; ₹699), is a prime example, chronicling the disintegration of his marriage amid the backdrop of his relentless pursuit of truth. "Having a gun to your head multiple times can easily become traumatising. It takes a toll, and that's what Breakup: A Marriage in Wartime is about," shares the 41-year-old, who was recently in Bengaluru.

Born in India, raised in Dubai, and deeply immersed in the world of science and mathematics, Sundaram's journey into journalism was anything but conventional. While at Yale University, despite having no formal training, he was driven purely by a desire to shed light on underreported atrocities. He travelled to Congo almost on a whim, intending to stay for just a few months. Instead, he remained for a year and a half, beginning a two-decade-long career in war reporting. His work has taken him to some of the world's most dangerous conflict zones, documenting humanitarian crises for some of the world's major publications.

Breakup: A Marriage in Wartime is a deeply intimate memoir, that intertwines personal and political turmoil, offering a haunting account of his experiences in the Central African Republic (CAR) during its descent into chaos. The book juxtaposes his deteriorating marriage with the unfolding violence in CAR, painting an eerie portrait of a nation's struggles – which is almost invisible to the rest of the world – and the unravelling of a relationship. The memoir not only documents the horror perpetrated during the conflict in the CAR but also explores the impact of war reporting on his personal life.

"My family and marriage gave me stability and an anchor, but the reporting ultimately damaged and destroyed the marriage, which is a common experience among war reporters and human rights workers. Unfortunately, due to machismo, many men don't describe these tensions and costs. It was important for me to describe them," he shares. "I wanted to start the book by describing the strength and beauty of the marriage that eventually broke down. If I didn't start with that, the impact of the breakdown at the end wouldn't be as strong. The reader wouldn't understand the loss unless they could see how beautiful the marriage was. Writing about that beauty was difficult because every time I tried, I felt resentful about losing it, and I couldn't write. Writing helped me process the loss and eventually describe how important and complete the marriage was. This was one of the purposes of the book."

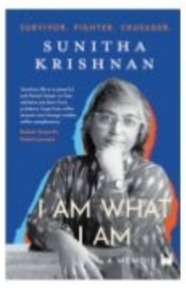
Despite the personal costs, Sundaram remains committed to his mission. "For me, despite the cost, it's very much worth it. I feel very grateful to have a strong sense of purpose from this line of work," he shares.

NUGGETS

BOOK LAUNCH EVENT HIGHLIGHTS KANNADA VACHANAS' SOCIAL IMPACT

A book launch event for Vacanamrtam – Nectar of Sayings, translated by Mangesh Venkatesh Nadkarni, was held on July 6 at the Forum of Former Vice-Chancellors of Karnataka on Palace Road. Offering valuable insights for both Kannada and non-Kannada speakers, the book translates mediaeval Kannada vachanas into Sanskrit and English, highlighting social awareness, challenges the caste system, and promotes gender equality. The event was attended by chief guest Dr Chiranjiv Singh, former Additional Chief Secretary of Karnataka, professors S Chandrashekar Shetty, Neeta Inamdar, and Sangmesh D Saundattimath.

PADMA SHRI AWARDEE LAUNCHES MEMOIR



Social activist and author Sunitha Krishnan launched her book I Am What I Am: A Memoir at the Bangalore International Centre on Tuesday. Krishnan, the founder of Prajwala, an institution combating sex trafficking and sex crime, shared insights from her personal journey and the challenges she faced in her mission. Recognised globally, Krishnan is a recipient of the Padma Shri and was named a 'Trafficking Person Hero' by the US government. The book is published by Westland and is priced at `699.

DISCUSSION ON SUSTAINABLE ARCHITECTURE PRACTICES THIS WEEKEND

A book discussion event on A Call to Return: A Journey with Didi Contractor will be held on July 13, 5pm at Champaca Bookstore, Vasanth Nagar. The event will feature a conversation between author Lakshmi Swaminathan and architect Chitra Vishwanath who will delve into the life and values of the renowned architect Didi Contractor, whose work focuses on sustainable and alternative architecture. The book, published by Banyan Tree, highlights themes of farming, non-formal education, and small-scale economy. Swaminathan, an architect who lived and worked with Didi for four years, brings personal insights and experiences from compiling and editing the book. Visit champaca.in for more details.

The future according to RAY KURZWEIL

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

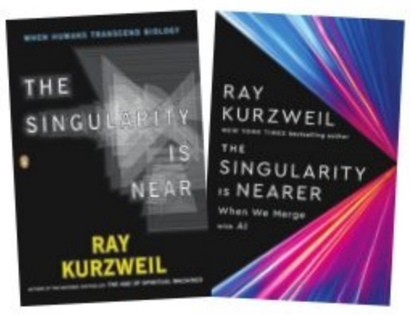
I met inventor-futurist Ray Kurzweil on the day his book The Singularity is Nearer was released at Kepler's Bookstore (California). Wearing his trademark hand-painted suspenders, 76-year-old Ray was gentle and thoughtful. In conversation with his daughter Amy Kurzweil (New Yorker cartoonist and author of Artificial), Ray covered a wide range of topics from the technological to the philosophical. I have tried to understand what his ideas mean to the world and share his six key predictions for the future.

Singularity by 2045: The term 'singularity' is borrowed from mathematics (where it refers to an undefined point in a function, like when dividing by zero) and physics (where it refers to the infinitely dense point at the centre of a black hole, where the normal laws of physics break down). Ray uses 'singularity' as a metaphor. His predictions of technological singularity do not suggest that rates of change will become infinite but will come to a point where AI surpasses human intelligence. As the transition happens, we will enhance our cognition quickly enough to adapt. In his 2005 bestseller book The Singularity is Near, Ray had already suggested that we will achieve singularity by 2045. When we do, humanity will be a million times more intelligent than today!

The writer with Ray Kurzweil

Artificial General Intelligence (AGI): AGI refers to a type of artificial intelligence that possesses the ability to understand, learn, and apply knowledge across a wide range of tasks at a level comparable to that of a human being. AGI aims to handle any intellectual task that a human can. Ray had predicted in early 2000 that we will achieve AGI by 2029, while scientists said it would take around 100 years. Today, his predictions are coming true, and some like Elon Musk believe we can achieve AGI even earlier!

Longevity Escape Velocity: By 2029 scientific progress will reach a point where for every year we live, we will regain 12 months, hence reaching longevity escape velocity. Currently, for every year we gain around 4 months in longevity, and beyond 2029 we will regain over a year. People may perhaps not live forever but our average life span will be unimaginably longer.



All energy will be renewable: Advancements in nanotechnology and material science will lead to the widespread adoption of renewable energy sources (sun and wind). Solar power, in particular, will become more efficient and cost-effective, leading to a significant reduction in reliance on fossil fuels. By 2035, all our energy needs will be fulfilled by renewable energy (and by using just 1 per cent of the sun's energy). No other form of energy including nuclear power would be needed!

Human-machine integration: Ray foresees a future where humans and machines merge through brain-computer interfaces and nanotechnology. By the 2030s, humans will be able to connect their brains to the cloud, enhancing cognitive abilities, memory, and learning capacity. We would be able to back up our normal biological bodies, just as we back up our devices! Ray believes AI will have less bias than humans.

Universal Basic Income (UBI): We will have UBI in developed countries by the early 2030s and in most countries by the late 2030s. People will be able to live well by today's standards on that income. This would entail regular payments to all adults, or the provision of free goods and services, likely funded by some combination of taxes on automation-driven profits and government investments in emerging technologies. Related programmes might provide financial support to people caring for family or building healthy communities.

Ray's predictions are shocking, hopeful, scary, disruptive, personal, and ultimately indisputable. We are going to experience life in a whole new way, but progress must align with values. Ray believes that the best way to keep AI safe is to protect and improve our governance, social institutions, and ethical ideals.

GANESH

The actor-director duo is said to be having their rounds of discussions, and the Golden Star is reported to have liked the script

TO JOIN HANDS WITH PANNAGA BHARANA FOR AN OUT-AND-OUT COMEDY DRAMA

Ganesh | Pannaga Bharana

A SHARADHAA

GOLDEN Star Ganesh, known for his all-around entertainment on the silver screen, has captured audiences with his emotional depth and impeccable comedic timing. His unique ability to balance drama and humour has made him a beloved figure in Sandalwood. As he gears up for the release of Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi, directed by Srinivas Raju, exciting news about Ganesh's upcoming projects has surfaced. The actor is reportedly in careful talks with various directors, meticulously planning his next moves.

Among the anticipated collaborations, Ganesh is set to team up with French Biriyani director Pannaga Bharana for an out-and-out comedy project. The duo has already had their few rounds of discussions, and Ganesh has given the green signal. This project, currently in the discussion phase, is expected to go on floors soon. Details regarding the production house and other specifics will be revealed once an official announcement is made.

In addition, Ganesh has another interesting project lined up with director AR Vikyath. Produced by Satya Rayala, this untitled film will mark Ganesh's first collaboration with the legendary Ramesh Aravind. While Ganesh has these two interesting projects lined up, it remains to be seen when he plans to go on floors with said films.

Shivarajkumar

Shivarajkumar makes a spectacular transformation in Bhairavana Kone Paata

Makers unveil first look ahead of the actor's birthday, to commence shoot in September

CE FEATURES

HEMANTH M Rao, gearing up to direct Shivarajkumar, has sparked excitement with the title Bhairavana Kone Paata, which has garnered unanimous praise for its originality. With the first look unveiled just ahead of Shivanna's birthday on July 12, the team is poised to set a new benchmark in the Century Star's career. The first glimpse sees the Century Star sporting armour and long, grey hair, undergoing a significant transformation, signalling a bold move in his cinematic journey.

Expressing his enthusiasm for the project, Shivarajkumar said, "This film will leave a lasting impact. Appaji was celebrated for portraying such characters in the past, and I am thrilled to embody Bhairava. I thoroughly enjoyed the narration and look forward to collaborating with Hemanth M Rao and the team."

Director Hemanth M Rao reflects on the ambitious nature of Bhairavana Kone Paata, describing it as his most challenging project yet. "Directing a superstar like Shivanna, whom I've admired since childhood, adds to the excitement," he says. Despite challenges during the photoshoot atop a hill, he praises Shivanna's dedication. "The entire team was in awe of how Shiva Rajkumar sir managed the shoot despite unfavourable weather," he adds. Rao hints that while the film is set centuries ago, it will resonate with a modern war film's treatment.

Producer Dr Vaishak J Gowda is optimistic about his maiden venture under VJF - Vaishak J Films. "From the first narration of Bhairavana Kone Paata, I sensed its potential as a special film. We are meticulously planning every detail, from sets to locations, ensuring it competes with the best globally," he says confidently.

As preparations for Bhairavana Kone Paata gear up for a September shoot, the team is expected to announce the technical crew and cast shortly.

Back Benchers stars Suchendra Prasad in a different role: Rajashekar

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Rajashekar's upcoming film Back Benchers, which is all set to evoke cherished college-day memories, will introduce versatile actor Suchendra Prasad in a never-seen-before role. Scheduled for release on July 19, Back Benchers marks a departure from the usual Kannada film narrative, focusing on the nuances of college life and the relationships that shape it. Director Rajashekar has kept the specifics of Suchendra Prasad's role under wraps, teasing audiences with hints of something extraordinary.

Suchendra Prasad is known for his impeccable Kannada pronunciation and his ability to immerse himself in diverse roles, and Rajashekar describes his character in Back Benchers as a blend of strict authority and paternal warmth, a departure from his usual heroic portrayals. "His role in Back Benchers underscores his versatility as an actor," remarks Rajashekar, confident that casting Suchendra Prasad in it has been a decision that will pay off handsomely.

The film features a soundtrack composed by Nakul Abhayankar, boasting seven melodious tracks. Produced by PP Productions, Back Benchers introduces a fresh ensemble cast including Jatin Aryan, Akash, Shashank Singh, Manya Gouda, Kunkum, Anusha Suresh, Manoj Shetty, Namitha Gouda, along with Aravind Kuplikar and Ranjan Narasimha Murthy in pivotal roles.

Suchendra Prasad

Kichcha Sudeep lauds team Hejjaru for its unique narrative

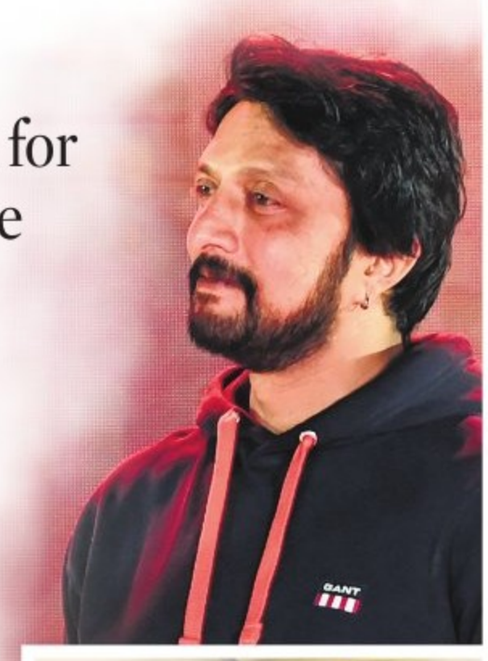
CE FEATURES

HEJJARU, directed by Harshapriya, is all set to hit theaters on July 19, and it has already caught the attention of actor Kichcha Sudeep. After viewing the film's teaser and rushes, the Max hero appreciated the team's commendable efforts, highlighted its exceptional storyline as a unique narrative approach, and extended his wishes to Gopal Deshpande and the entire film crew.

Hejjaru centers on the intriguing lives of two individuals from different eras: Rajaram, born in 1965, and Bhagat, born in 2020. Rajaram embarks on a solitary quest for answers following a profound loss, while Bhagat, facing similar events, believes that following Rajaram will lead him to the answers he seeks. As their lives unfold, mysterious developments complicate Rajaram's quest, weaving a complex narrative.

The film stars Bhagat Alva and Leonilla Shweta D'Souza in the lead roles, while Gopal Deshpande, Naveen Krishna, Muni, and Arun Balaraj play supporting characters. Produced by Ramji Talkies and Gagan Enterprises, Hejjaru features music by Poornachandra Tejaswi and cinematography by Amar Chayagrahana.



A still from the film

Anna Ben

THE MANIC PIXIE DREAM GIRL OF KALKI 2898 AD

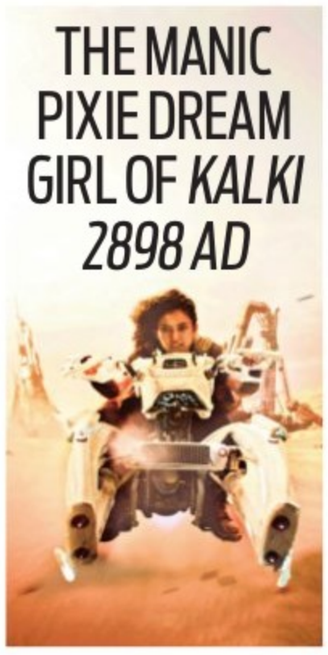
SREEJITH MULLAPPILLY

ANNA Ben has a cameo in the recently released big-budget sci-fi Kalki 2898 AD, a role she says is so different from the characters she has played so far. In the film, she is seen alongside some of the legends in Indian cinema like Amitabh Bachchan, Kamal Haasan, and Shobana, all of whom play characters tonally in stark contrast with Anna's playful Kyra.

"Usually, filmmakers approach me for female-centric roles or characters who go through some sort of struggle. However, Kalki 2898 AD presented me with an opportunity to explore a new space: action. It is the first time I am doing stunts in a film," reveals Anna Ben.

The actor does not know the exact reason why director Nag Ashwin cast her in the role of Kyra, a chirpy rebel from the hidden city of Shambhala. However, she shares, "I had asked director Nag Ashwin why he approached me for the role, and he told me that it is one of his favourite characters in the film and that he wanted a likeable face for it. He has seen most of my films and has identified that aspect in my earlier roles. It is a character with some humour who is unapologetically optimistic, very hyper, and talkative—a manic pixie dream girl type. My physicality also fits in with the concept of a smaller person doing big stunts, which probably explains why Nag sir approached me for the role," says Anna with a smile.



One aspect that makes Kyra stand out from the rest of the rebels in the film is the sheer level of confidence she exudes. She is devoid of the baggage that some of the other rebels from Shambala carry with them as a consequence of years of oppression at the hands of Supreme Yaskin (Kamal Haasan). Talking about her awareness of the whole Kalki universe, she says, "Only director Nag Ashwin knows the universe fully. I know my character arc and that the film is about Kali Yuga. I also know something about the characters of Amitabh Bachchan, Deepika Padukone, and Prabhas. I understood the whole story only after watching the film. There are plenty of stories in Indian mythology, and Kalki is a well-executed example of a large-scale production that draws from ancient literature and that could be proudly presented to an international audience."

Speaking of which, Kalki 2898 AD also presented Anna with the opportunity to work with international talent, which she says helped her navigate the complexities of doing the stunts. "I was very happy and excited, because not always do you get to act in such a star-studded film. However, this also comes with a lot of responsibility. So the last thing you want in such a film is to pick up an injury and hinder the shoot. Thankfully, my action choreographer Nick Powell (The Bourne Identity) and director Nag Ashwin, reassured me of the backup options, even as they encouraged me to do the action sequences for practical reasons. And like a fool, I jumped ahead and did it, knowing the risk and reward involved," quips the actor.

The actor then goes on to talk about Malayalam cinema, the industry where she started her career, with 2019's Kumbalangi Nights. "Everyone seems to think that I am now acting in Telugu or Tamil cinema alone, but I have been waiting for good screenplays from Malayalam since last year's Thrishanku. I know it is a great phase for the industry here, with plenty of experimentation going on, and exploring something new and creative is what drives actors. I want to be an active part of Malayalam cinema again."
